

Unanimous Vote For Fox Cities Regional Plan

Hammond Hired by Indiana Firm To Direct Its Local Office

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities regional plan is in first gear after two years of controversy over a planning proposal and about six years of talk.

Two years and four months ago, the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission was formally organized in the Little Chute village hall. Thursday night in the same hall, the commission recommended its 10 member municipalities ratify a $140,000, 3-year planning proposal submitted by Kenneth Schellie and Associates, Indianapolis, Ind.

The vote was unanimous, although nine of commission's 30 members were absent. All heads of member municipalities were present.

Last of Three

The proposal is the last in a series of three by Schellie and is the first to give full responsibility for the plan to the planning firm. A local office will be opened and it will be headed by Clarence Hammond, now commission planner.

Hammond told the commission. However, Hammond will be a Schellie employee and the responsibility for the plan rests squarely upon Schellie, the commission was told by Schellie.

Explains His Vote

The commission formally rejected all previous action on recommending plans — it had recommended only one — before accepting the current plan.

Kaukauna Mayor Joseph Baygeon cast his city's vote for the plan, then explained the vote was given under the word of Schellie to hire Hammond.

Labor Control Bill Goes to White House

Washington — (AP) — The house today completed congressional action on the labor controls bill and sent it to the White House for President Eisenhower's certain signature.

The measure had passed the senate 95-2 last night after more than eight hours of debate.

The house action dramatically capped the president's biggest legislative victory of the session.

It handed Eisenhower a bill patterned closely after his recommendations for legislation to cope with corruption and racketeering in labor-management relations.

The measure is the first important congressional revision of labor-management law since enactment of the Taft-Hartley law 12 years ago.

The bill writes stringent new rules for protection of union members rights.

Heavier Tax Load Possible For Middle Income Groups

State Business Units Form Strong Coalition To Push for Sales Tax

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The strongest farm owner organization in sales tax campaign coalition the state, has called for the sales tax to relieve the pressure of real and personal property taxes.

The Committee for Tax Revision, which the state business group in the state to form an alliance is the most significant disclosure in the new push on behalf of the sales tax in the November session of the legislature.

Organized Business

The new united front is composed of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, the Wisconsin Manufacturers association, the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce, and the Special Taxpayers committee on the state budget, an off-shoot of the Public Expenditure survey.

Together they represent virtually all of the politically active spokesmen for organized business enterprise in the state.

Moreover, they have acted together rarely on a popular political issue, although each of them has endorsed tax revision through incorporating the sales tax into the income-property tax structure of the state.

Farm Support

Arch Ely, named as a staff officer of the Alliance for promotion purposes, is the director of the survey and is widely known for his frequent public speeches demanding tax reform.

Some observers believe the sales tax alliance may win recruits because of the pattern of its proposal. The potent Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation, for example, chief farm owner organization in the state, has called for the sales tax to relieve the pressure of real and personal property taxes.

The Committee for Tax Revision conspicuously offers personal and property tax relief.

Laos Appeals For UN Help

Wants Troops to Aid in Battling Communist Attack

London — (AP) — Laos has appealed to the United Nations to send troops to help repel communist attacks, the Laos embassy said today. Britain at once announced it favored UN action if aggression in Laos is proved.

In its appeal, Laos accused communist North Viet Nam of intervening on the side of the red rebels of Laos.

A foreign office spokesman told a daily news conference after the Laotian announcement was issued:

"If aggression is established, the British government would obviously be in favor of the United Nations taking action to deal with that aggression."

Argentine General Challenges Ouster

Claims Support of Most of Army; Denies Try for Political Coup

Buenos Aires, Argentina — Gen. Carlos Toranzo, who today challenged the government's order ousting him as army chief, declaring that 95 per cent of the army was behind him.

Toranzo made the statement after a tense night during which President Arturo Frondizi announced that troops were marching on military barracks where the general set up rebel headquarters. Only two tanks appeared near the barracks but they held their fire.

Shortly before dawn, Toranzo emerged from his stronghold in the army mechanical school in the heart of the capital and went to Government house for a 50-minute conference with Frondizi.

He told newsmen afterwards the rebel officers are not seeking to overthrow the Frondizi government. Their dispute, the general said, is with Secretary of War Eibio Anaya.

Toranzo Montero said he reached a truce with Frondizi, his friend from boyhood.

and declared there now would be a "waiting spell" in the military crisis.

He said he could not reveal the deadline of the truce so as not to close the road toward understanding.

While the general headed back to the rebel headquarters, government sources said the resignation of Anaya appeared imminent.

The crisis erupted Wednesday when Anaya fired Toranzo Montero in a dispute over reshuffling of key posts in the army.

Toranzo Montero said his defiant stand "does not represent any danger" to Frondizi's government because the trouble had no "political origin."

Famed Parish Priest Of Arctic Circle Dies at Point Barrow

Point Barrow, Alaska — (AP) — Father Tom Cunningham, 53, the parish priest of the Arctic, died of a heart attack yesterday in his cabin at this northernmost tip of the United States.

His death ended 25 years of missionary work in the largest Roman Catholic parish in the United States — 150,000 square miles of ice and tundra above the Arctic Circle.

Father Cunningham, a native of New Zealand, came to Alaska in 1934. He first served on Little Diomed island, then established missions at Teller and Nome before coming here.

Typhoon Moves Near Coast of Red China

Taipei, Formosa — (AP) — Typhoon Louise swept through Formosa today on its way to the red China coast, leaving one person dead and 169 injured.

All but two of the casualties were recorded at Hualien, an east coast town 75 miles south of Taipei.

But He Can't Answer

Dispute Man's Claim Of Civil War Status

Houston, Texas — (AP) — Walter Williams is too old and feeble to comment on a report questioning his status as the only surviving veteran of the Civil War armies, his daughter says.

Willie Mae Bowles, with whom Williams has made his home for several years, said "he doesn't understand anything these days."

Williams has been virtually blind and deaf for several years. He was critically ill most of last month from the after-effects of a bout with pneumonia earlier this year.

Too Young

Scripps-Howard writer Lowell K. Bridwell wrote Thursday that a search of government records indicated Williams was too young at the time of the Civil War to have served as he claimed, and that the unit to which he said he was assigned was broken up before the date Williams said he enlisted.

Bridwell said census records and a check of the National Archives showed Williams to be 103 rather than 116 as Williams claimed. The newsman said this would have made Williams 8 years old during the latter days of the Civil War.

Texas Brigade

Williams, in an affidavit filed when he applied for a Confederate pension in 1932, said he was a forage master with Hood's Texas Brigade for 11 months near the end of the war. Bridwell said Hood's Brigade was disbanded "long before Williams believes he enlisted."

The Scripps-Howard writer, commenting that Williams "is a Confederate veteran only in his memory-clouded mind," said the last surviving veteran of the war was John Salling of Slant, Va., who died last March 16.

Governor Disturbed by Financial Burden Borne By Business and Industry

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Wisconsin's middle income groups would have to assume a heavier tax burden if the administration revises the tax structure in accordance with findings of Gov. Gaylord Nelson's tax impact study committee.

After reviewing committee findings, Gov. Nelson today said he is "disturbed" by disclosures about the weight of taxation on business and industry.

The report shows families in the $4,000 to $10,000 annual income bracket pay a smaller proportion of their earnings in tax than those above and below those levels.

In the voluminous report which the governor says will guide him in development of his own tax policy, a committee of University of Wisconsin economists concluded that the impact of taxation on manufacturers is greater in Wisconsin than in neighboring states, and that per capita taxation on the whole in Wisconsin is the highest among the seven states in this region.

Rocket Plane Fails Again

Second Attempt to Fly Famed X15 Cancelled in Air

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. — (AP) — An X15 rocket ship went aloft today for what had been scheduled as its first power flight, but technical difficulties cancelled the attempt.

Test Pilot Scott Crossfield jettisoned his fuel about an hour after the 50-foot — long black dart took off fastened under the wing of a B52 bomber. The two planes then headed back to earth.

The two planes landed safely a short time later, the rocket ship still in place.

There was no immediate indication as to the trouble.

A leak in a hydrogen peroxide line last week forced postponement of a scheduled power flight at that time.

The X15 is designed eventually to blast a man to the edge of space and return him safely.

Round Trip

The tiny ship made the round trip attached to a bomber piloted by Crossfield's buddy, Air Force Capt. Charles Bock.

The mother ship rose swiftly in the morning sunlight, driven by its eight powerful jet engines to an altitude of 38,000 feet. There the stubby-winged X15 was to be cut loose, ignite its twin four-barrel rockets and climb to 50,000 feet.

Plans called for it to make a 100-mile circle at that altitude under power, reaching a speed of about 2,000 miles an hour. The ship was to glide in for a 200-mile — an-hour landing.

President Vetoes Second Shot Housing Bill

Washington — (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed the second shot $1,050,000, 000 housing bill which congress had passed after he vetoed a more costly measure in July.

"The president in a message to the senate said the new bill like its predecessor goes too far."

Although some of the features of the first bill he vetoed are removed in the new measure, and some other features partially corrected, the new bill in its most important provisions represents little improvement over the original, he said.

Final Talks With French Result In Complete Agreement on Berlin

Turnberry, Scotland — (AP) — President Eisenhower put aside his official cares today for a short vacation as an honorary citizen of Scotland. He had accomplished his mission to Europe to shore up the western alliance against communism.

Ailsa Course

With the nine days of diplomatic work in Bonn, London and Paris behind him, the president arrived, looking ruddy and fit, for a Labor Day weekend of rest and golf at Culzean Castle, his Scottish vacation home.

He tackled the beautiful 6,690-yard Ailsa course, five miles from the castle, this afternoon.

Students Will Enjoy Reading Hometown News

College students are making plans for their trips to campuses all over the United States.

The flurry of buying to fill the needs of two full semesters away from home has started, including luggage, clothing, typewriters, books, and toiletries.

Thoughtful parents also are making arrangements to have the Post-Crescent sent to that college address. Nothing will equal the satisfied feeling "getting news from home" every day from the pages of their hometown newspaper.

In Good Taste Pair Eating As Friends Pay Visit

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my husband and I were in the midst of eating ice cream when some friends of ours dropped in unexpectedly. There wasn't any extra ice cream on hand to offer them and I felt very uncomfortable sitting there eating in their presence. Should we have put our ice cream aside, or just what is proper in a situation of this kind?

Answer: There was no reason why you should have not finished your ice cream after having told your unexpected guests how sorry you were that there wasn't any left for them. You might of course have offered them some coffee or a cold drink or something else you may have had available.

Bridegroom's Present
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is customary, for the bride to give the bridegroom a wedding present, and if so, what is customary? Also, when is the most appropriate time for the bride and groom to give the members of the bridal party their presents?

Answer: It is not exacted that the bride give a present to the groom but she often does so if she can. Generally it is something permanent and personal — ranging from cuff links to a watch or ring. If there is a bridesmaids' and ushers' dinner, the attendants are given their presents at that time; otherwise at the rehearsal.

Question of Dress
Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to a dinner at which dress is optional. The man I am going with will be wearing a tuxedo. What shall I wear? Is it necessary for me to wear an evening dress?

Answer: You may wear a simple evening dress if you wish to, but it is not necessary simply because the man you are going with chooses to wear a tuxedo. An afternoon dress would be quite proper.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-11, entitled, "Do You Know Your ABC in Manners," (quiz for boys and girls of high-school age) send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of this newspaper, P. ## Woman Sports Editor Solves Unique Problems

Levelland, Tex. —Jean Howell, a pretty girl who proudly bears the title of sports editor, does all right in what is usually a cigar-chewing, masculine world.

The 23-year-old sports editor of the Levelland Daily Sun-News does admit to a few problems, though. "My biggest problem is getting gatekeepers in other towns to believe I'm a sports editor."

The brunette admits male sports writers have only one advantage: "They can often get good quotes in the dressing rooms following a game."

One other problem she allows: "Of course, I occasionally have to make out like I didn't hear something that's said in the press box."

"She's better than any sports editor we ever had, except one, and sometimes she uses better judgment than he did," says Forrest Weimhold, publisher of the Sun-News.

Mrs. Howell says she long dreamed of writing sports, but reached her goal more or less by accident. "It's kind of like woman suffrage—except that sports writing is a last frontier to be held almost exclusively by men," she says. "I'm a woman who's just barging in."

After graduation a year ago, she came to Levelland with her husband, a petroleum engineer. The Levelland paper was putting out a large special edition and she was hired to help write it. "I was lucky," she says. "The sports editor left and they gave me a chance at the job."

'Voltaire' Builds Dream Castle About Dumb, but Gorgeous Girl

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I never thought I'd wind up on your "couch" in print. But then I suppose they all say that!

I went with this perfectly beautiful girl four months. She was so magnificent that for three months I was mesmerized by her indescribable beauty.

I read her poems by Pound and Kunitz. She was a great listener. I bought her albums of Chopin and Brahms. She smiled her thanks. Then suddenly I saw the bare face of truth. What I had imagined was tranquility, depth and inner security, was only silence—borne of ignorance.

When I tried to recall a single statement from this girl which reflected an original idea, I was stymied. She was a fraud.

I have three degrees, Ann, but this idiot-beauty who I'm sure never saw the 10th grade, duped me. Please pass the word along. It may save another idealist four months, and $1,000 in books, records, flowers and gifts. —VOLTAIRE

Dear Voltaire: Why is the girl a fraud? Did she tell you she was on the faculty at Harvard?

You were so snowed by her looks that all your male impulses went on active duty and your brains went AWOL. You tried to build a dream castle and move this brainless female in. Your attempt to spin a shimmering cocoon of magic around a beautiful (but dumb) dame didn't work. It never does. So—take your medicine like a little man.

DEAR ANN: Maybe if you publish this letter it will help my cause.

I got my driver's license a few days ago. I passed the test with flying colors. Now my folks won't let me drive unless one of them is with me. I've been practicing for three years and I'm as good a driver as either of them. Yet they say I haven't had enough experience to take the car alone.

How can I get experience if they won't let me have the car? If you can explain this I'll be grateful.—LIZ

Dear Liz: Be patient, Lamb—your time will come. Drive whenever you get the chance. After a while they'll get used to the idea that you're a competent driver. Then you'll be permitted to take the car on your own. Nagging and begging is a sign of childishness, so lay off and you'll achieve your goal sooner.

DEAR ANN: Lately I've been reading articles entitled: "Is Dad just a meal ticket?" "Are American wives pampered?" "Has the male lost his place as head of the American Family?"

I'd like to ask the following questions: "Is Mom just a housekeeper?" "Do American men have life too soft?"

True, women don't have to work as hard as their grandmothers did, but neither do men. Today the 40 hour week is considered "too long." They want 35. The young man out of college who is looking for a job wants to know what the pension plan is before he'll consider it. Mom doesn't get any such deal. Being a wife and mother means 24-hours-a-day duty.

This malarky about a woman being boss is a joke. I've yet to see a wife who could watch the TV program of her choice when a fight or a cowboy movie was on.

If there's any pampering going on it's the men who are getting it. American husbands are the most spoiled males on the face of the earth. Mom starts it and the wife takes over from there.—SADIE

Schoolgirls Need Sturdy Canvas Laundry Bags

BY DOROTHY ROE

Every boarding school girl needs a laundry bag—the bigger the better, and sturdy enough to stand the gaff of weekly trips through the mails, when the laundry goes home to mother.

A husky duffel bag of water-repellant, mildew-resistant canvas solves the problems of storage and transportation. You may choose either a solid color or a gaily striped awning canvas.

After much experiment, local sewing center experts have worked out the ideal school laundry duffel, simple to make at home. They suggest you make it with a drawstring top and an identification-card pocket. The pocket on the side serves as an address holder. A piece of cardboard with daughter's school address on one side, parents' home address on the other, serves as a permanent mailing label. Fourth class postal charges for nine pounds of laundry will be under 70 cents if the school is less than 300 miles from home.

The carryall can be stitched on your electric sewing machine. However, it is recommended that a heavy (No. 18) needle and heavy (No. 40) thread be used. A straight stitch is satisfactory, but a zigzag stitch on an automatic slant-needle machine will give greater seam strength. Canvas may be purchased from a local awning shop, mail-order house or large department store.

Give Directions To make a bag 41 inches in circumference and 29½ inches deep, you will need one and five-eighths yards of canvas, matching thread and 12 feet of cotton clothesline cord. Here's how the bag is made:

1. Draw a circle 14 inches in diameter on the canvas, using pencil or chalk and a piece of string. This forms the bottom of the bag. Cut a 42-inch length of canvas for the sides.
2. Work drawstring openings about 20 inches apart and about one inch from the selvage on one side of your 42-inch length of canvas.
3. Use remaining fabric scraps for the card pocket. Cut two strips an inch and a half wide and five inches long, and two the same width and six inches long. If you are using a striped canvas, center a stripe in each strip. Turn down edges so that only the stripe shows. Topstitch. Next join the four strips to form a rectangle. Stitch to the middle of your 42-inch length of canvas, leaving the top of the pocket open for insertion of the mailing card, which should be in a plastic holder.

4. Pin together the ends of the 42-inch piece, right sides together, so that a cylinder is formed. Stitch. Turn under the top about one inch, forming a casing. Stitch.

5. Pin the circular piece of canvas to the bottom of the bag, right sides together. Stitch. Draw the doubled cord through the casing.

This handy bag also can be used for carrying books, groceries, sports equipment, and many other items. On trips to and from home, daughter probably will use it as extra luggage. It's easy to sew and makes a welcome gift.

In fabrics the favorites are characterized by suppleness. Top choices include sheer wools, wool jersey, lightweight flannel and wool crepes. The knit family continues to be strongly represented.

Fall Fashion Firsts

What's it to be, your first fall dress? If you would land a fashion first, make a note of these "buy-lines":

The favored daytime dress silhouette is slim and belted at the normal waistline. Shoulders give an impression of greater width, with loosely-fitted sleeves suspended from deep armholes. Hiplines are gently rounded, via tucking.

Taking Frightened Child Home On First Day of School Mistake

BY ANGELO PATRI

Stanley, aged 6, was delighted to think he was big enough to go to school so his mother thought he would be no problem at all. She took him to the classroom where most of the beginners were already seated, introduced him to the pleasant gray-haired teacher and prepared to leave. "Wow-owow," howled Stanley, clutching her dress. "I wanna go home, I wanna go home." Mother soothed him, pointed out how happy the other children were and with the now beaming Stanley what a nice time he would have. This went on for a week, have but no. "I wanna go home and finally mother was weary and said, "I think he is not ready for school yet. We will here and slip out and go home, wait a term." "But he is here and will soon settle down. The ready now," said the teacher. "Other children will help him." "er, and if he does not start said the teacher. But Stanley now he loses months of schooling and his mother said, "and he will find it much while." "Better not," said the learning time passes without teacher. "You will only pro-his making use of it." But long the trouble.

The teacher was right but Each term there is always mother, distressed, could not one such child. Fear over-believe that her weeping takes him when he faces the frightened child would change reality of his cherished his attitude and stayed in the dream, his first day in school room, sitting beside him on a chair built for a 6-year-old child. It did no good. The moment she made a movement to leave he clutched her again and screamed loudly, and of a sympathetic, assured more strenuous until his mother gave in and took him home. "Don't do that," said the teacher. "He will be worse tomorrow. Let him stay and he will get over this once you actually go."

Losses Months But mother could not believe that and went her way with the now beaming Stanley what a nice time he would have. This went on for a week, have but no. "I wanna go home and finally mother was weary and said, "I think he is not ready for school yet. We will here and slip out and go home, wait a term." "But he is here and will soon settle down. It is well to acquaint a new scholar with the appearance of the school, the classrooms, playground and equipment the term before he enters. Familiarity destroys fear.

When the Fox Cities Foxes return to Goodland field tonight to play Green Bay, Fred Bruckbauer (above) will go after his sixth straight win and twelfth of the season. He is one of the Three-I league's top rookies. Hernan Vila (below), battling for the league batting title, is currently hitting .336.

Jays Snap Foxes' Victory String, Play Here Tonight

Fox Cities' Flag Hopes Dim After 10-9 Setback; 'Spoon' Raises Homer Total to 20

Green Bay—The Green Bay Bluejays outlasted Fox Cities, in a 10-9 slugfest here Thursday night to shove the Foxes to the brink of elimination from the second-round pennant race.

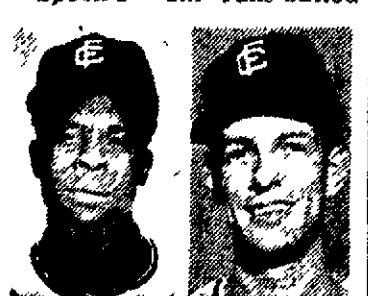

In halting the Fox Cities' winning streak at seven straight games, the Bluejays dropped the Foxes into a second place tie with Topeka, 4½ games behind Des Moines. One more victory for the Demons or a loss for the Foxes (or Reds) would mean the end of the second-half flag chase.

The Foxes return to Goodland field tonight (8:30) to continue their exciting gallant quest for high finishes in both the second round and full season standings. Fred Bruckbauer (11-4) will try to extend his personal victory streak to six and the Foxes' home skein to nine when he opposes either Pete Richert (10-8) or Jim Steinhour (10-6), of Green Bay.

The Foxes hit the only three home runs last night, but they went for naught in the 8-pitcher duel that lasted more than three hours. "Chuck" Weatherspoon blasted a pair of 3-run round-trippers to boost his season's total to 20, and Dick Harris socked a pinch homer in the eighth.

"Spoon's" six runs-batted-

in enabled him to pass Hernan Vila in the race for the club lead 78 to 76. Vila got two hits in three official trips to keep him at or near the top in his battle with Des Moines' Wayne Graham for the 3-1 hitting crown.

The Foxes opened leads of 3-0 and 5-3 before falling behind, 10-5, after seven innings. They rallied for four in the eighth. Then, in the ninth, Harris opened with a single. With the tying run on first, reliever Makela fanned Phil Condu, Ron Dibelius and pinch-batter Rene Nodarse in order.

Walks to Dibelius and Vila and Weatherpoon's 10th home run to left center field got the Foxes off to a flying first-inning start.

A 2-run double by Fran Boniar and Bob Parker's RBI single quickly tied it for the Jays in the first.

The Foxes took a 5-3 lead in the fifth on walks to Dibelius and "Spoon", a single by Vila, a force-out and Jack Feller's sacrifice fly.

Parker's 2-run triple was the big blow of Green Bay's 3-run fifth. The Jays got three more in the sixth, then got what proved to be the winning run in the seventh on a bases-loaded walk to Tim Harkness.

In the Foxes' eighth, Harris

Gifford, Hornung Collide Saturday

Both Rate as Multiple Threats; Taylor Leads Packer Rushing

Bangor, Me.—Frank Hornung and Paul Gifford should keep an eye on each other when the Packers play the Giants here Saturday night.

Something wrong? Of course, it's Paul Hornung of the Bays and Frank Gifford of the Giants.

Well, they both play the same position — left (or option) halfback. And Hornung is being trained by the man who supervised Gifford for five years. That would be Vince Lombardi who was Giant backfield coach before he took over the Packers.

Lombardi spotted Hornung as a possible option halfback when the snow was flying last winter. And all Vince knew about Packer personnel then was what he saw in the movies.

Two Comparisons

Now comes the first of two Hornung-Gifford comparisons. This hardly seems fair because Gifford has been optioning since Paul was a prepster, but at least they'll be on the same field. The next comparison will be in New York Nov. 1, with the blue chips at stake.

Hornung can get an idea by just watching Gifford, while Frank might keep his eyes on Paul, too, because the former Notre Damer has an added bit of fullback in him. Hornung can plunge like a fullback when necessary, although the halfback type of running is best for the position.

The option back must do four things well—run, catch passes, pass and think in a hurry. . . . Hornung has been staying out overtime after an occasional practice to throw passes and catch them.

Gifford's ability to decide in a hurry—when to pass or throw is his long suit. Hornung is out to develop this valuable characteristic.

Gifford is fresh from a quarterbacking binge. He got the idea he wanted to play quarterback this year. That ended this week.

Hornung is a fugitive from two positions—quarterback as a rookie in 1957 and fullback in '58.

Rookie To Start

Lombardi is undecided on his right halfback starter. It will be George Dixon, Tim Brown or Alex Hawkins.

The three rookies have carried a total of 16 times, with Brown making 74 yards in six trips, Dixon 27 in seven and Hawkins 18 in three. Don McDemons, who got route-going pitching from Bob Gill, is Dave Smith, the rookie, carried the ball just once, losing a yard against the 49ers.

Jim Taylor is the teams' leading ground gainer for the past three games, with 156 yards in 38 attempts. Paul Hornung is second with 108 in 18.

The Packers left Austin Straubel field via chartered plane this morning. They'll headquarter at the Bangor house here tonight and Saturday night and then leave Sunday morning for Greensboro, N.C., where they'll prepare for the Redskins game in Winston-Salem a week from Saturday night.

San Francisco's Power Downs Cubs, 8 to 5

Miller Gets Win As Giants Hike Lead to 2½ Laps

San Francisco — (AP) — The old 2-gun West has crept into the blood of the pennant-hungry San Francisco Giants. And right in front of the wild-eyed home folks.

The transplants from New York's Polo grounds hitherto had used pitching as their main weapon.

10 of Last 12

Thursday, they gunned down the Chicago Cubs, 8-5, with a blazing 14-hit attack and increased their lead to 2½ games. For the second time since early in the season, that put the National league leaders on a better home ratio—35 won, 28 lost—than on tour, 40-32.

The Giants now have won 10 of their last 12 home games in Seals stadium where sea breezes at times blow high flies into the left field pavilion.

Ed Bressoud homered in a 2-run third and tied it with a 2-run single in the fourth.

Willie McCovey actually won it in the fifth when he powdered the tenth homer of his brief major league career off loser Dave Hillman.

But Willie Mays put the game away for sure with a 2-run homer in the sixth, his twenty-fifth of the season. "This was one of our best hitting days," rejoiced Giant Manager Bill Rigney.

The Cubs routed starter Johnny Antonelli in three innings with five hits. Alvin Dark hit a homer in the second, and Ernie Banks got his second straight hit in the third, a double scoring Lee Walls.

Dave Hillman suffered the loss, his tenth against six victories. Stu Miller won his eighth against 7 defeats.

The Cubs meet the Giants tonight. Glen Hobbie, with a 13-11 record, will oppose the Giants' Jack Sanford, 12-10.

Spahn Faces Purkey Tonight In Cincinnati

Seeks 18th Victory, Tries to Get Back On Winning Track

Cincinnati — (AP) — Warren Spahn will try to get the Milwaukee Braves back in the victory column tonight when he takes the mound against the Cincinnati Redlegs in the first of a 3-game series.

The ace left-hander will be seeking his eighteenth victory against 13 defeats and will go up against Bob Purkey who is 10-15 for the season.

The Braves lost ground again in the close National league race Thursday when the pace-setting San Francisco Giants trounced the Cubs.

They now are 4½ games behind the leaders, resting in third place only one game in front of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds are in fifth place, 5½ games behind the Braves. Milwaukee trails second-place Los Angeles by two games.

Declines Steadily

Milwaukee has declined steadily in the past three months. On June 3 it was leading the National league by 3½ games. During June it had a 14-15 record, in July the Braves won 13 and lost the same number in August the team record was 15-16. And the team hasn't won a game in September.

The reason the Braves haven't fallen completely out of the pennant race is because the Giants and the second-place Dodgers haven't done much better.

SMU Halfback Gregory Returns to Practice

Dallas — (AP) — Glynn Gregory was back at work and Southern Methodist's football spirits were on the rise today.

The star halfback, a victim of heat exhaustion Tuesday, was discharged from a hospital and took part in passing drills Thursday.

If somebody's second-guessing Don Drysdale these days, it isn't the hitters. They've naded him, and no doubt about it.

It was Drysdale who paced Los Angeles' climb into the National league pennant fight, winning 10 of 11 over two months and pitching the tal and took part in passing drills Thursday.

Medical checks revealed no organic trouble.

Storm Mound

Drysdale, who popped off recently about second-guessers among Dodger coaches, almost touched off a brawl when he sidelined Cunningham, perhaps for several days, with a badly bruised forearm. Tommy Bolt Says New 'Jolly' Game Brings Poor Results

Kansas City — (AP) — Tommy Bolt, once the temperamental terror of professional golf, says he is playing a "jolly" game with poor results.

So far this year, Bolt said Thursday, he hasn't thrown a club, snarled at a tournament official or insulted a fan. And, he hasn't won a tournament, either.

"I just can't get started," Bolt told newsmen gathered to watch the pros limber up for the annual $20,000 Kansas City Open, which was to begin today.

Bolt, 1958 U. S. Open champion, said he wants one of the 10 places on the U. S. Ryder cup team. He trails tenth-place Jackie Burke by 57 points and could pass him by winning here.

Wiesner Runs 75 Yards In UW Scrimmage

Follows TD Sprint With Several Other Big Gainers

Madison — (AP) — Comparatively light drills were slated for the Wisconsin football squad today after Thursday's first scrimmage of the year. However, a game-type scrimmage is scheduled for Saturday.

One Exception

After Thursday's contact work coach Milt Bruhn commented, "We made some progress but there's room for considerable improvement. The boys are really tired. We were doing some experimenting which probably caused some of the mistakes."

Veteran Dale Hackbart was quarterback on the first team which, with one exception, was composed of lettermen.

Others seeing first team action were halfbacks Billy Hobbs and Bob Altmann, full backs Eddie Hart and Neenah's Tom Wiesner, ends Jim Holmes and Hank Derleth, tackles Danny Lanphear and Jim Henneke, guards Ron Perkins and Jerry Staleup and centers John Gotta and Bob Nelson.

The only non-letterman on the unit was Gotta, a Kenosha who played with the freshmen in 1957 but did not attend school last fall.

Wiesner made a 75-yard touchdown run early in the workout and followed with several runs of good yardage.

No major injuries were reported from the contact drill, although some received bumps, bruises and assorted aches.

Demons Win 6th Straight

Move Closer to Crown With 10-4 Victory Over Lincoln

By The Associated Press

One more step forward would put Des Moines on the Three-I league throne for the second half title.

The Demons, with a 4½ game lead, won their sixth straight Thursday night, 10-4, over Lincoln with Cal Emery hitting his twenty-fourth homer.

Meanwhile, Green Bay, which nosed out Des Moines for the first-half pennant, damaged Fox Cities' chances by scoring a 10-9 victory. The setback dropped the Foxes into a tie for second place with Topeka and ended their victory string at seven.

Grand Slam

Topeka used Don Pavletich's grand-slam homer in the ninth to climax their uphill struggle to a 10-7 victory over Sioux City. The Soos held a 7-0 lead after three innings.

Paul Price and Bill McGuckin also homered for the Demons, who got route-going pitching from Bob Gill, 6-0 lead after four innings.

Burlington defeated Cedar Rapids, 4-3, and clinched a basement finish for the Braves. Perry Noun's double in the eighth was the deciding blow, scoring two runs.

MU Accents Air Attack

X-Rays of Center Don Dulak Show No Fracture

Milwaukee — Faced with opening the season here Sept. 19 against tough Pittsburgh, Coach Lisle Blackbourn Thursday sent one of his Marquette university football squad against another against Panthers.

The accent was definitely on passing, with the aerials being thrown by Joe Schulte, Bill Hare, Pete Hall and Ernie Garcia — all of whom had moderate success. End Larry Hubbard and halfback Si Woods came through with good catches.

The morning workout was devoted to pass defense for the secondary and linebackers.

Blackbourn also received news that X-rays on center Don Dulak had proved negative and his back injury was diagnosed as a muscle ailment instead of a bone injury. Dulak injured his back this summer.

141 Drivers are Entered In Road America '500'

Elkhart Lake — The annual running of the classic Road America "500" races for sports cars today boasted an entry list of 141 drivers, including the top West Coast team of Pat Pigott and Frank Becker.

Pigott and Becker, both of Seattle, Wash., have entered a potent two liter Lotus for the Sept. 13 feature 500-mile event against the 79.4 miles per hour record set by millionaire Lance Reventlow of Hollywood, Calif., in a 4.1 Ferrari in 1958.

The program calls for a total of 780 miles of racing over the twisting, dangerous track that winds through the Kettle Moraine for four miles.

Cliff Tuttle, the superintendent of the track, said 61 cars have been entered for the 500-mile race, almost the maximum number allowable to maintain adequate safety conditions.

Two Races

The program for the Saturday of Sept. 12 includes two races, the first for 120 miles for the smaller sports cars and a 160-mile event for cars with bigger motors.

The latest entries received included three cars owned by

Throws for 3 Touchdowns, Runs For Another

By The Associated Press
Tobin Rote, the 2-way quarterback in the pros' language, is up to his proven tricks while pointing the Detroit Lions toward a new and happier, they hope — National Football league season.

Rote, a passing quarterback who also runs, stayed at the controls throughout the Lions' exhibition game with the Philadelphia Eagles at Toledo Thursday night.

Coach George Wilson and Lions—who wallowed with a 4-7-1 record last year—were rewarded with these accomplishments:

Eighteen of 25 passes completed for 272 yards and three touchdowns, eight runs for 69 yards and one touchdown—adding up to a 35-24 Detroit victory.

Colts Meet Eagles

Rote, now 30 and beginning his tenth pro season, packed four touchdowns into a wide-open second quarter after the Eagles grabbed a 14-0 first-quarter lead.

Baltimore's pro champion Colts seek their fourth straight exhibition victory against Pittsburgh's Steelers at Miami tonight, touching off another heavy weekend exhibition program.

There are four more games Saturday: San Francisco vs. the Chicago Cards at Seattle, and in night games, Cleveland at Los Angeles, Washington vs. the Chicago Bears at Jacksonville, Fla., and New York against Green Bay at Bangor, Maine.

The heavily-manned Yank team hauled in 12 more gold medals Thursday for a total of 58. The bag is going to be heavy again when swimming, boxing, gymnastics, yachting and other events are through for the day.

The other nations combined have won 17.

What Can We Do?

"What can we do but go out to win?" asks Charlie McCaffree of Michigan State, head coach of the men's swimming team. "Our kids are so eager that they can't wait to get into the water. They feel this is putting the foot in the door for the Rome Olympics and they're determined to win."

McCaffree voiced the sentiments of almost every Yank coach here.

In Thursday night's first five championship fights, the United States won with light welterweight Vince Shomo of New York, middleweight Willie McClure of Toledo, Ohio, and light heavyweight Amos Johnson, a southpaw from Stockton, Calif.

Even the one U. S. loser, featherweight Charlie Brown, a Marine from Cincinnati, had a beef coming. He dropped a controversial, split decision to Argentina's Carlos Aro although he forced the fight and did most of the scoring.

Wins Four Events

With the 15-year-old Chris von Saltza leading the way, the United States won all four water events with 1-2-3 finishes. This made it 8-for-8. In seven of these events, the Yanks have copped all three medals. In the other, they finished 1-2-4.

Miss von Saltza, a tall, blond from Saratoga, Calif., who is aiming for an unprecedented five Pan-American gold medals, got her first one in the 200-meter freestyle. She won in 2:18.3, busting her own mark made in the trials.

The same held true for Olympian George Breen, Indianapolis, in his winning time of 4:31.4 for the 400-meter freestyle. Olympian Frank McKinney, Indianapolis, retained his 100-meter backstroke crown with a fast clocking of 1:03.6.

Paula Myers Pope, Los Angeles, took the 3-meter springboard dive with 139.1 points. Althea Gibson, former U. S. and Wimbledon queen, gave the United States its first women's tennis winner in Pan-Am history by beating Mexico's Yolanda Ramirez, 6-4, 7-5, in the singles final.

Luis Ayala of Chile beat Canada's Robert Bedard, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, for the men's title.

Time Out with Mike Drew

The owner of a Kaukauna root beer stand had his name wiped off baseball's major league record books earlier this week.

When the Los Angeles Dodgers' "Sandy" Koufax sent third strikes past 18 San Francisco Giants Monday night, he established a new National league record and tied the major league mark.

What was almost entirely overlooked was the fact that he helped his catcher, John Roseboro, set a new modern major league mark for putouts by a backstop in a 9-inning game.

One Better

Roseboro's 19 putouts was one better than the 18 of Frank Pytlak, proprietor of the Kaukauna A and W drive-in, located on Highway 41. Pytlak, a big league catcher for 11 years, set the mark Oct. 2, 1938.

On that day Bob Feller, then a youthful fireballer out of Van Meter, Ia., struck out 18 Detroit Tigers, pitching for the Cleveland Indians. Pytlak was his catcher. Until Tuesday, Frank shared the catchers' putout mark with Jimmy Wilson of the Cardinals who set it in 1933, and Matt Batts of the White Sox who tied it in 1944.

Frank, a Buffalo, N.Y., native has been in Kaukauna for four years.

Fox Cities' Foxes pitcher John Aehl is such an avid reader on the bus during road trips that he has worn out several flashlight batteries, reading at night.

A guy who once played for most of the top baseball managers of the last several decades, Lincoln Chiefs Pilot Ira Hutchinson, asserts Leo Ducher was the smartest field skipper.

"Hutch," a former major league pitcher, says that the late Bob Coleman was the best handler of young players he's ever known. Coleman was a longtime Three-I league and wartime Boston Braves pilot.

Bill McKechnie and Billy Southworth had the best ability at leading men and "Casey" Stengel was impatient with youngsters and men who didn't live up to his expectations, "Hutch" says.

When Howard Bowers triumphed in the finals of the Appleton city golf tournament Sunday it was the first time he had played 36 holes in one day in over 10 years.

One of the top all-around athletes in the Fox Cities area, John DeYoung, has received his notice to report for military service.

DeYoung, a top caliber soft-new horn-rimmed glasses off the field only this season. "Spoon" found that the thick rims make for a blind spot when he's batting. He might get a rimless pair before next year.

"Potato" Pascual, who likes the area around third base wetted down well before every game, got the ground a little too damp before the "xcs" 2-1 victory over Cedar Rapids Sunday night.

Base-runner Ben Siquefield slipped in the mud and Sunday, Monday and Tuesday missed third base during the nights here was Richard Allgame, the Braves called for man, 12, Chicago, a former the ball, tagged the bag and "Quiz Kid". Richard special-Ben was declared out.

Wynn, Perry Foes in Opener Of Chisox-Indian Set Tonight

Yanks Whip Washington, 9-2, Behind Art Ditmar's 4-Hitter

By The Associated Press

Cleveland either takes two of three in that last-chance series opening at Chicago tonight against the first-place White Sox, or they're nothing but a bunch of dead Indians in the American league pennant race.

It's as simple — or as tough — as that.

A sweep would jump the White Sox 8½ games out front — enough to virtually lock up their first pennant in 40 years with 19 games to play. At the moment, their magic number is 18 — any combination of Chicago victories and Cleveland losses totaling 18 gives it to the White Sox.

Neither the White Sox, who named Early Wynn (17-9) to pitch tonight, nor the Indians, who picked rookie Jim Perry (10-6), played Thursday. In the only AL games scheduled, Baltimore beat Boston, 5-4, on Bob Niekman's two home runs, and the Yankees whipped Washington, 9-2, behind Art Ditmar, who had a no-hitter until Roy Sievers homered with two out in the seventh. The Nats finished with four hits.

One More

Wynn, the old man with the young arm, has beaten the Indians eight times out of nine since they traded him to the White Sox two years ago.

Perry, a fast-balling right-hander, lost his only decision with Chicago in a duel won 2-0 by Dick Donovan last Saturday.

The Sox have taken 13 of the 18 games played between the two contenders this season. After the Chicago series, they'll meet for one more game — at Cleveland September 22.

Cal McLish and Gary Bell, both of whom were knocked out by the Sox in the 4-game Cleveland sweep, are the probable starters in the final games Saturday and Sunday.

Billy Pierce of the Sox is an outside possibility for one of the three games. He has been sidelined three weeks with a hip injury. Meanwhile, the Sox ticket office is being deluged with requests for tickets to the remaining home games and, of course, the World Series. If and when the South Siders nail down the title.

No series tickets are available yet.

Frank Lane, in town Thursday for a meeting with baseball officials from other pennant-contending clubs, gave the Sox a pat on the back, in a left-handed sort of way.

Lane denied he had said that the Sox would be "the louisiest team ever to win a pennant," a statement which received widespread publication after the last Sox-Indian series.

"If I said that then how would that make my team look?" Lane asked. "I suppose then you'd have to say that the Indians are even lousier than the White Sox."

"What I said was that if the White Sox win they would be the weakest hitting team ever to play in a World Series."

1959 Tar Heels Are 'Loaded'

Hickey Opens First Season With 25 Lettermen

By The Associated Press

Jim Hickey, who succeeded the late Jim Tatum as head coach of the North Carolina Tar Heels, inherited a gold mine of good football prospects. He's putting his stock for a successful season in fullback Don Klochak and quarterback Jack Cummings. "These two hold the key to the Tar Heels' Atlantic Coast conference title hopes, a possible Sugar bowl bid and a shot at the national championship in which they are given better than an even chance."

Hickey inherited 25 lettermen from a 1958 squad that had a 6-4 record. He has 77 aspirants in camp but makes no bones about the necessity of Klochak.

Better Shape

"He is in much better shape than he was this time last year," Hickey said Thursday after watching the 230-pound senior from Fairhope, Pa., sparkle during a scrimmage.

After missing the first four games, he had a 5.4 rushing average; last year, picking up 324 yards.

Cummings, a 6 foot 2, 192-pounder from Lower Merion, Pa., is North Carolina's aerial threat. His passing in 1958 gained 1,139 yards, 11 touchdowns on 68 completions in 134 attempts.

North Carolina gets its first severe test right off when it meets 1958 conference champ Clemson, Sept. 19.

Alex Will Try 'Awfully Hard' To Win U. S. Singles Crown

Forest Hills, N. Y. — (AP) — "I don't apologize for the way I played in the Davis cup," he said. "I did my best — I try awfully hard."

This was Alex Olmedo's tennis public today as he opened his bid to add the U. S. National to his Australian and Wimbledon champion's hips for a rare "little slam."

The Peruvian's first opponent was Don Russell, 19, an Australian now attending Pan American college in Texas.

Since the Davis Cup Challenge round last weekend, to which his surprise flop cost Uncle Sam the trophy, Olmedo has been working like a mule — often two hard practice sessions a day — to regain top form.

World Series Opens Sept. 30 In AL Park

Representatives of Six Clubs Formulate Plans in Meeting

Chicago — (AP) — The 1959 World Series will start Wednesday, Sept. 30 in the park of the American league champion, barring a league playoff, it was announced Thursday.

Representatives of two American league teams, the first-place Chicago White Sox and the second-place Cleveland Indians; and four National league teams, the San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates, made plans at a meeting called by Commissioner Ford Frick.

If Chicago or Cleveland and Los Angeles or San Francisco are involved, the first two games will be played in the midwest with Oct. 2 a travel date. The next three games would be held Oct. 3, 4 and 5 in the National league park on the West coast.

Another travel day, Oct. 6, would be invoked if the best-of-7 series had to continue, with the sixth and seventh games in the American league city Oct. 7 and 8.

No Days Off

If neither San Francisco nor Los Angeles wins the National league flag, there will be no traveling days and the first game at the National league park will be played Oct. 2. A league playoff, if necessary, would start Sept. 28 with the World Series beginning the second day after the completion of the playoff. Both leagues have a best-of-3 playoff series in the event of a first place tie.

The starting time for each World Series game will be 1 p.m. local time. The ticket prices as in past series, are: $10 for a box seat, $7 for a reserved grandstand, $4 for standing room and $2 for bleachers. This includes federal but not local taxes. A charge of $1 per order for handling will be made.

Local clubs will announce details as to time and method of ticket sales.

One of the Joys of Owning a pet is to train him, and here's Miss Lynn Dunke, 308½ Polonia street, Menasha, with her miniature French poodle at her side. The dog—Cricket, aged 15 months—is heeling, which is walking at the left side of the owner upon command, no matter what the distractions. ## Trojans Slight Favorite In Far West Big Five

California, UCLA Also Figure as Leading Contenders

San Francisco — (AP) — The Far West Five — football's newest big college conference — contains three contenders and two potential trouble makers.

Southern California, California, UCLA and Washington joined after the demise of the Pacific Coast conference and Stanford later came into the Athletic association of Western universities, legal name of the group.

Coch Don Clark, of course, would argue negatively, but his USC Trojans rate a slight edge over California and UCLA, thanks to a powerhouse line.

Pete Elliott at California, last of the PCC winners, is two deep in lettermen at every line spot. His only real loss, and it is a big one, was Joe Kapp at quarterback.

Stanford relies mainly on the pitching of quarterback Dick Norman and the catching of Chris Burford, an all-conference end last year.

Washington fields practically an all-junior starting lineup. Bob Iivner, outranked in PCC total offense statistics last year only by Kapp, is back at quarterback.

USC's all-lettermen line smacks of speed and beef with twins Mike and Marlin McKeever, 215 each, tackle Dan Ficca, 235, and George Van Vliet, 195-pound end, providing the muscle.

Wood Back at QB Willie Wood, hampered by a shoulder injury last year in the Trojan's 4-5-1 season, will be back at quarterback.

Wayne Crow, a standout sophomore last season, moves from halfback to quarterback in the Bears multiple-T offense.

The UCLA line is of moderate size, but improved in speed, depth and strength.

Coach Jack Curtice at Stanford has a real re-building job in his second season. He lost his entire line from tackle to tackle.

All About Pets

Every Pet Owner Has His Own Responsibility to the Animal

BY JACK GLASNER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Most of this series has been about the health of your pet, and properly so. It's the animal's health which leads to the satisfaction and pleasure which a pet can give you.

But there are some other things about pets — some things which are more important, in many ways.

Each person who gets a pet also has a responsibility toward it — no one can just take an animal and forget it. Humane societies, however lacking their resources and some of their methods, are the result of people who refused to accept the responsibility of a pet.

Giving children chickens or rabbits at Easter, for instance, may be a charming custom, but unless the family is willing to accept the each one of our lives, so do not expect a dog or cat to travel through life with you and your children.

There comes a time when there is one, last act of love or care you can provide for your pet — and that is what it is, not just an execution.

Training, Too

If you have a dog, consider the possibility of training. A trained dog offers a great deal more pleasure — and less trouble — than an undisciplined animal.

While you may enjoy your Great Dane jumping on your shoulders, it's possible your callers find it a shattering experience. In short, you have more than your own family to consider when you own a pet.

Training Clubs

There are dog trainers at some kennels who will train your animal—for a fee—over a several-week period. There also are dog clubs—in the Fox Cities it's the Winnegamie Dog club — which operate training sessions for minimum cost, at which your pet can learn the basics of behavior.

One or two basic things will offer the dog owner a great deal of pleasure and pride. If your dog learns to heel — walk beside you at command, no matter what the distraction—and to come when called, you'll find that at least 90 per cent of your troubles are over.

Any dog can be trained, there are no exceptions. One key, of course, is starting early. There is no such thing as a "mean" or "wild" dog — it's the owner that makes him so. Try a little patience, consistency and kindness and the dog will respond.

About Cats

Cats are a different matter, but they can be trained. It is a matter of starting with the kitten, which, after all, is where the cat starts. If you are thinking about disciplining a cat, forget it. Kindness works wonders, beating does nothing.

With any pet, the key to training and for satisfaction with the animal is patience and a regular scheme of things. Animals are crea-

Gerhard Baecker teaches Volkswagen (or why Volkswagen service is as good as the car)

Gerhard Baecker, schooled in Wolfsburg, Germany, now teaches Volkswagen in the United States. His teaching is part of the Volkswagen philosophy: the car is only as good as the service it gets. As a result, you'll find your VW serviced only by our graduate mechanics, trained to demanding Volkswagen standards.

Our service is fast. Your Volkswagen engine can be removed and replaced in 90 minutes. A fuel pump installed in 20. And we have a complete inventory of parts on hand. There's no wait, no substitution.

Volkswagen parts are inexpensive. A new front fender is $21.75* A new cylinder head $19.95* But it will probably be years before your VW needs anything but our expert routine maintenance.

If you've been thinking about buying a Volkswagen, isn't it nice to know our service is as good as the car?

Flower Box of Clothespins Makes Attractive Present

BY CAPPY DICK

The unusual clothespin flower box described as today's fun-project will be an excellent gift for mother, grandmother or a favorite aunt. In it you can plant flowers or vines.

It is made from an old cake pan, wood clothespins and cellophane ribbon. The pan should be at least three inches deep. It may be round or oblong. Paint it with bright-colored enamel. When the paint has dried, fasten a row of clothespins around the top as in Figure 1. There must be an odd number of clothespins, instead of an even number, because you will want to weave the cellophane ribbon among them.

Use ribbon of a color that harmonizes with the color of the pan. Figures 2 and 3 show how to do the weaving. The ribbon passes in and out among the clothespins all the way around the pan. Weave several rows. At each corner tie a bow of cellophane ribbon to one of the clothespins.

On the bottom of the pan

Plant flowers or vines in the finished box.

spread a thick layer of fine gravel. Then fill the pan almost to the top with rich soil. In this plant the flowers and vines.

The pan should be carefully watered day by day.

I also collect the names of people whose very names are now part of our language, like Watt, Ohm, Diesel, Dun, Boycott, Guillotine, Gerry-mander and many others — and some day you may read a column here on the subject.

But there is not sufficient room to include all of my hobbies and pleasures. The amazing thing is that when the lady asked me if I had any hobbies, I thought hard for a minute and said, "By golly, I don't think I have!"

On the House Charlie Admits to No Hobbies, But He Collects Limericks Avidly

BY CHARLES HOUSE Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In conversation recently with an interested lady I was asked what hobby I had. I was startled to find myself at a loss to answer her question for it seemed, at that moment, that I have none at all.

After a little thought on the subject, however, I decided that I have so many of them that I was caught short by the question and was unable to state which is my hobby. I am still not certain, but I do know that I have been collecting limericks for many years and that my collection is very good. And, I fear, very bad, too, for one limerick in my collection explains the character of limericks rather well, like this:

House The limerick packs jokes anatomical
Into lines which are quite economical,
But the good ones I've seen
Are so seldom clean
And the clean ones are so seldom comical.

There is some truth in that, but if limericks are often bawdy — and many of them are — I do not collect them for that reason. I like the brevity, the brisk lines, and the sometimes wonderful humor to be found in them.

Young Fiddle, a student from Ree,
Was as pious as pious can be,
His doctorate at Trinity
Was earned in Divinity,
But he hates that Fiddle, D.D.

I like the tongue-twisters, too, of which there are many, and wondrous ones, like the following:

A tutor who tooted a flute
Tried to tutor two tooters to toot;
Said the two to the tutor,
"Is it harder to toot,
"Or to Tutor two tooters to toot?"

A relative tongue-twister which is very old and also very good strikes the familiar pattern of similarity in words, and goes thus:

There was an old lady from Crew
Who rushed out to catch the 2:2
Said a porter: "Don't worry
"Or hurry or scurry:
"It's a minute or two to 2:2."

Many of the best limericks employ a mutilated word to achieve rhyme and humor, and one of my favorites is this:

There was an old drunkard from Sidney
Who drank till it ruined his kidney,
As he drank and he drank
It shriveled and shrank.

Fire Damage Slight at Old Kimberly Home

Blaze Confined to Siding; Started From Painter's Torch

Neenah — Minor damage resulted from a fire at the old Kimberly homestead at 404 E. Wisconsin avenue Thursday afternoon but the blaze could have caused extensive damage to the home which dates back to about 1850.

The fire was in the siding on the portion of the large colonial-style white frame home occupied by Mrs. Albert C. Gilbert. The Visiting Nurse association occupies the other half of the house.

Painters were using a blow torch to remove paint from the siding in front of the house causing a small fire behind some of the siding. Firemen were called at 2:37 p.m. and three trucks were sent.

Had it not been for the insulation, firemen surmised, the blaze could have spread between the walls and caused extensive damage.

A class of 27 expectant mothers was meeting in the VNA portion of the home and the class was dismissed early so that none would be affected by any smoke.

Firemen also were called at

Village Board To Get Fire Station Plan

Winneconne — The village board Thursday night at a special session set Sept. 17 for the approval of plans and specifications for the remodeling of the village hall and the construction of the new fire station.

Estimated cost of the village hall project is $81,000 while the new fire station is $24,000. The fire station will be built at N. Sixth and W. Main streets and will be a 62 by 65 foot brick building. Plans are being prepared by Iron and Reinke, Oshkosh architects.

The new station would house the fire equipment and trucks of the village, town of Poygan and town of Winneconne.

A representative of the Donahue Engineering company of Sheboygan advised the board the new sewer pump and lift station has been completed except for some minor adjustments.

The Sheboygan firm was engaged to prepare street, sidewalk and lot grade levels and the necessary bench marks at a cost of $400 per mile. There will be about 40 on each side of the river.

Mrs. Crosby was taken into custody Monday night in downtown Menasha after a waitress reported to police she was showing the weapon to others in a tavern.

She was held in the county jail until today, when the judge released her in her parents' custody. Mrs. Crosby, mother of two children, ages 1 and 2, lives with her parents. Her husband reportedly works in Marion.

One of the Paintings Being Displayed until Sept. 16 at the John Nelson Bergstrom Art Center and Museum is the still life by John Wilde, a University of Wisconsin art instructor, who specializes in oil paintings and in the surrealist or magic realist style. The art center is featuring the works of six Wisconsin-born artists.

Museum Features Six Wisconsin Artists

Exhibition at Bergstrom Center
Includes Oils, Watercolors, Graphics

Neenah — The John Nelson Bergstrom Art Center and Museum currently is having an exhibition of oils, watercolors, and drawings by six Wisconsin-born artists. Included are Paul Clemens, Ruth Grotenrath and Schomer Lichtner, Alfred Sessler, and Robert Grille. The exhibition is being held in the Bergstrom Art Center and Museum, which is located on Highway 150 and County Trunk U, east on U and south on Highway 41 to Jacobsen road and then west on Jacobsen road to the Cold Spring road and then south to Highway 150 and back to the school.

Clemens was born in 1911 in Superior and later moved to Milwaukee where he began his painting career. His art training was at the University of Wisconsin where he studied under Arthur N. Colt. Known for his Renoir-like portraits, Clemens has now become the leading portrait painter in the Los Angeles area.

Teaching at the University of Wisconsin in Madison are Grille, Wilde and Sessler. Grille, a native of Stoughton, is well known to Wisconsin and Eastern art collectors for his sensitive trompe l'oeil (fool-the-eye) paintings.

Sessler and Wilde are both Milwaukee born. Sessler is regarded as one of the most important graphic artists in America and has his works represented in every major museum collection in the United States.

Majors in Oils
Wilde, on the other hand, is primarily a painter who works in oils. His works have an air of the fantastic and unreal about them, despite the trompe l'oeil technique in which they are executed. Wilde has long been recognized as one of the most outstanding American painters who follows the surrealist or magic realist style of painting. Like Sessler, his works are represented in many major American art collections.

LWV Serves Area With Community Service Projects

Neenah — Neenah-Menasha League of Women Voters will launch its finance drive the week of Sept. 14 under the chairmanship of Mrs. Donald Shepard.

Numerous community projects are sponsored and directed by the organization as well as studies made of state and national issues.

One of the local projects is the non-partisan Voters Service under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bert Holverson. This committee sends a letter to each new arrival in the Twin Cities — and there are between 25 and 50 new families moving into the area each month — telling them where the polling places in each ward are located as well as their representatives in the city and district. It also invites participation in the league, open to any woman interested in good government. This group will sponsor classes in the teaching of practical politics at its September unit meetings.

A second league project

this year is revision of "Know Your Town" booklet under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Teeple. The booklet was first published 5 years ago with the revised edition to be available in April.

Another local activity of the organization is sponsoring candidate meetings held to give league members and interested persons an opportunity to listen to candidates for local offices and determine their qualifications.

On Oct. 24, league members will hold meetings in cooperation with the National Council of Churches and other civic organizations to meet foreign students and listen to a panel discussion by a group of students from India, who are attending area schools.

The Neenah - Menasha league joined with Appleton and Oshkosh leagues to publish a booklet on the Fox and Wolf river basins and the problems entailed. A second edition of this booklet will be available to the public in October.

Publications

League publications dealing with such subjects as foreign policy, budgetary proceedings and the United Nations are made available to local schools and public libraries.

As observers, league members attend school board, city council and county board meetings so they are aware of actions of these groups and are able to form opinions and voice approval, if requested.

The organization also is launching a bicycle safety campaign, in cooperation with Neenah and Menasha police.

Finance drive chairmen are Mrs. Melvin Crowley, training sessions; Mrs. Shepard and Mrs. Ted Neely, letters to prospective contributors; Mrs. Fred Leech and Mrs. Robert Mosher, display; Mrs. Robert Eiss, finance; Mrs. B. H. Kellogg, kits; Mrs. R. E. Thickens, publicity, and Mrs. Holverson and Mrs. Russell Flom, drive workers.

Nelson Signs Bill for Aid

Public Schools to Get $17,500,000 in Additional Funds

Madison.—Gov. Gaylord Nelson has signed into law a bill increasing state aid to public schools by about $17,500,000 for the biennium.
Acting Thursday the governor also signed bills boosting the tax on wine and providing an appropriation of $25,000 for a study of ways to improve the tourist trade.
The school aid bill will increase the state's payment of educational costs to 25 per cent of the total, compared with 21 per cent in the past. It also changes the formula for distributing state aids, so that districts hit by an epidemic would not have their aids cut because of a loss in attendance.
Nelson said the new assistance is in addition to the $18 million increase in school aids included in his executive budget. He said the total accounts for almost one-half of the $79 million increase expected in state government expenses in the 1959-61 fiscal period.
The wine tax will be increased from the present levy of 10 cents a gallon to 15 cents on wine with an alcoholic content of 14 per cent or less and from the present 20 cents to 30 cents a gallon on wine with an alcoholic content of 14 to 21 per cent.
The study of ways to improve the tourist industry will be made during the next year and a report will be made to the 1961 legislature.

Strikers Return To Paper Mill — Wearing Shirts

Ladysmith.—Some 219 employees of the Peavey Paper Mills who walked out during a heat wave when the company said they'd have to keep their shirts on, returned to their jobs today.
Members of Local 95 of the United Papermakers and Paper Workers and Local 261 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers unions voted by secret ballot Thursday night to accept management terms and go back to work.
The workers walked out Aug. 19 protesting a company order that they wear shirts while on the job. Two days after the walkout the company said the employees would be welcomed back with the exception of three union leaders. The company discharged the three for leading the walkout in what it called violation of the contract.
The company refused to reverse its stand and the union members agreed to return—wearing shirts.

Death Stalking Family?

Seattle Police Trying to Unravel Mysterious Bomb Killing of Widow

Seattle.—Is death stalking the family of Mrs. Pearl Kongsle, a well-liked 62-year-old Seattle widow who was killed Wednesday night when a make-shift bomb blew up in her face?

That was one of several questions Seattle police were attempting to answer today as a squad of officers worked feverishly to find her killer.

It was revealed late yesterday that Mrs. Kongsle's sister found two sticks of dynamite one morning last month on the front yard of her suburban Alderwood Manor home.

Niece, Husband Die
Last April Mrs. Kongsle's niece and the niece's husband died mysteriously at Port Lewis, Wash. Botulism had been believed responsible but

VFW Opposes Nikita Visit In Resolution

Los Angeles.—The Veterans of Foreign Wars are opposed to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.
Delegates to the VFW's 80th national convention yesterday adopted a resolution denouncing it.
The resolution's sponsor, Past National Commander Cooper T. Holt of Tennessee, said:
"We strongly oppose Khrushchev's visit, as reflected in the articles of the resolution. It is an insult to our citizenship."
He added:
"Let us say to Mr. K. Khrushchev, 'prove by thy deeds rather than by thy words that you are for peace'. The Russians have broken 50 major agreements with us in past years. Let us remember each of these and be warned."

The resolution said the VFW feels "Little will be gained by these visits between Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower."

It urged VFW members and the public "To refrain from doing anything during Premier Khrushchev's stay in the United States to indicate any support or approval of the principles for which he stands."

It also asked congress to recess during the Soviet premier's visit.

Police said yesterday a former boarder at Mrs. Kongsle's home told them she once spoke of seeing prowlers near the house. He said she described them as three young men.

The night she was killed two of her woman friends had dropped over for a visit. It was one of the visitors who called Mrs. Kongsle's attention to a sack on her front lawn.

Mrs. Kongsle picked up the sack and peered into it for several minutes. It exploded as she held it before her face.

Some skin tissue has been sent to Letterman Army hospital in San Francisco in an attempt to determine the type of explosive used. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, under the personal orders of Director J. Edgar Hoover, also placed its laboratory facilities at the disposal of Seattle police.

Rockefeller, Mayor of New York City Favor Camps for Hoodlums

2 Officials Meet Today to Plan Fight Against Juvenile Crime

New York.—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller meet today to consider measures aimed at countering rising juvenile crime.

After separate sessions Thursday, the mayor and governor each said they favored a program of special youth camps similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps of depression days. The state now has two work camps for young offenders.

The roundup of teenage hoodlums continued with the Thursday arrest of four boys accused of stabbing 18-year-old Dominick Scudiere on Wednesday.

Scudiere and three chums were attacked by about 15 members of the Majestic gang, police said.

Officials, Public Aroused
The public, state and city officials have been thoroughly aroused by the surge in youth violence which has taken four lives since Aug. 23 and caused many injuries through stabbings, gunplay and beatings.

Wagner ordered City Budget Director Abraham D. Beame to divert $2½ million from other programs to add 1,089 policemen to the force and bring it up to its full quota of 24,508 men. It was hoped that the additional patrolmen would be on the streets by Jan. 1.

Pointing up the problems faced by law enforcement agencies was the wise-cracking demeanor of Salvador Agron, 16, chief suspect in the knife slaying of two youths early Sunday in a public playground.

Agron, who calls himself Dracula and wears a cape in the manner of the vampire character of that name, alternately snarled and wisecracked at newspaper and radio men on homicide lineup after he and Antonio Luis Hernandez, also 16, were held without bail in the slayings.

"How do you feel about killing those boys?" Agron was asked.

"Like I always feel; like this." Agron shrugged his shoulders indifferently.

"Are you sorry?"

"That's for me to know and you to find out."

"Was it worth killing a kid to be here today talking on a mike?" another reporter asked.

"I feel like killing you, snarled Agron, "That's what I feel like."

A circuit county jury, after deliberating four hours, found Slavko Milutinovich guilty of the charge which carries a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment.

Judge M. Eugene Baker set Sept. 17 to hear motions for a new trial.

Milutinovich's wife, Olga, was found shot to death on a Lake Michigan beach last April 20.

Unique Overpass for 41 Will be First in State

275-Foot Span Rests on 5-Foot Pillars in Center of Roadway,

The first construction of its type in the state will offer Fox Cities residents a spectacular type of highway building in 1961.

Beginning this fall and winter, and scheduled for traffic use in 1961 is a 275-foot span carrying Northland avenue (Present Highway 41) over the new relocated 41 just north of the Highway 10 interchange. The spectacular nature of the structure is that it will be supported by single pillars in the center of the upper roadway's base.

The pillars of 5-foot reinforced concrete will carry the 30-foot roadway and 2-foot safety curbway. Rising from 12-inch pilings (tubes filled with concrete, driven to clay base), the pillars join the flat base of the 4-foot, 9-inch box-type girders of the reinforced concrete overpass.

Reinforcing Used
The reinforcing for the pillars and roadway ranges from 1 1/2-inch to 1-inch steel bars. No mesh reinforcing, such as one usually sees in ground level construction, will be used.

The structure is built in three definite steps—each a continuous pour of concrete. Once the pillar is erected, the base of each section—about 18 feet in length, nine feet to each side of a pillar—is cast. This forms a honeycomb of supports, the beginnings of the box-type girders. The second continuous pour builds the interior honeycomb of rectangular, vertical supports up are trying to cut the costs of the tremendously expensive overpasses and interchanges and this type offers a chance, yet untried in this area.

The construction method has been used in Europe and California, L. W. Empey, Green Bay district highway engineer, says.

Candidates Sought For Alderman Post

Neenah — Residents in the Seventh ward wishing to serve as alderman from that ward were urged by Mayor Bell today to contact either the mayor or some of the aldermen to submit their names. The council will elect a successor for Ralph Westland, who resigned Wednesday, at the Oct. 7 meeting but want sufficient time before that meeting to review the possible candidates.

Being an alderman is by no means an empty honor, the mayor said, since it means several evening meetings a month plus handling complaints from residents of the ward.

He asked any prospective candidates to submit information about themselves and their qualifications along with the indication they would serve if elected.

Green Bay Highway District Painting

This is an overpass carrying Northland avenue over Highway 41, to be built next year for traffic use in 1961. It is the first portion of the Highway 41 relocation between Highway 10 and Kaukauna. This will be the first use of single pillar, box-type girder construction in the state. The daring sweep of 275 feet of Northland avenue on a curve and a 3 per cent grade over Highway 41 is shown above, in construction detail in the lower painting, where the box-type concrete girder construction is clearly seen. The 30-foot roadway and 2-foot safety curb and walk rest upon a pillar five feet in diameter, which in turn rests on concrete-filled 12-inch steel tubes driven into the ground.

Mild Rally On Market

Best Gains Cut But Key Issues Move Upward

New York (AP)—The stock market rallied mildly in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Wall Street showed relief that the federal reserve board had not upped the discount rate, as was generally expected for late Thursday.

Prices moved ahead briskly at the start then the best gains were sliced and the market's pattern became irregularly higher at best.

Key stocks kept gains running from fractions to a point or more but an assortment of small losers appeared here and there.

Selling Pressure After three straight sessions of selling pressure it was apparent that prices were low enough to arouse speculative interest in spite of the long Labor Day weekend ahead.

The trend was mostly higher among steels, motors, rubbers, aircraft, oils, drugs and electronics. Coppers were lower. Chemicals and tobacco were mixed.

American Motors was up about a point, to stand out in the automotive section.

Other motors slid off from their best early prices as did steels. Youngstown Sheet resumed its rebound with a gain of more than a point. Lukens was up around a point.

Texas Instruments cut back an early 4-point jump to about a point.

Point Added Boeing added a point as it continued to ride forward on prospects of big orders for new bombers. Other aircrafts were narrowly higher.

Radio corporation was a casualty among electronics, falling more than a point.

Anacosta's drop of about a point depressed the metals section.

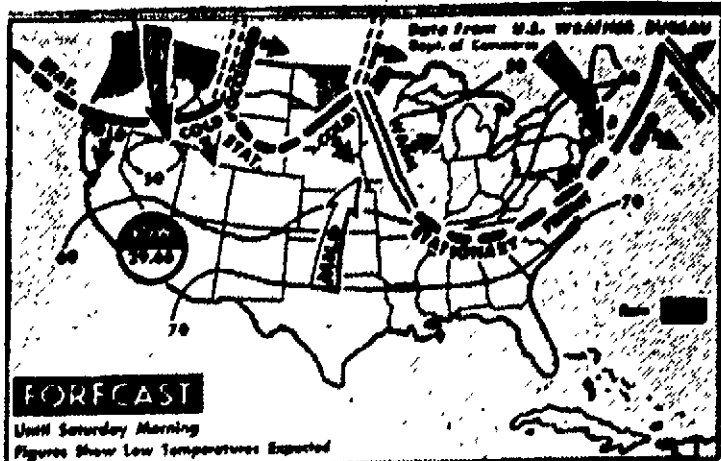

Government bonds showed a little early strength but it faded partially.

Milwaukee Livestock Milwaukee (AP)—Livestock: Estimated hog receipts 200; market unestablished due to strike in meat packing industry.

Calves estimated receipts 200; Thursday's market steady to 1.00; lower; prime 33.00-32.00; standard grade 20.00-24.00; cull to utilities 15.00-10.00.

Sheep, lambs estimated receipts 100; Thursday's market steady; top choice and prime lambs 20.00-21.00; good to choice 18.50-19.50; culls to medium 10.00-15.00; ewes 5.50 down.

Shows are Expected Tonight in portions of the north Pacific area and in the northern Rockies. Thundershowers are likely in parts of the northern and central plains. It will be cooler in the northeast corner of the nation and warmer in most of the upper half of the area between the Rockies and the Appalachians.

To Stay at Waupaca School

Court Splits Boy's Custody Between Father, Grandparent

Waupaca — Custody of occasions by a psychiatrist, Thane Mules, 11, was split between his grandparents and his father by Circuit Judge Herbert A. Humde after a closed session Thursday morning.

"The court found the home of the father, Harley Mules, 41, Scandinavia, suitable for the care and comfort and also the home of the grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Daniell, 610 S. Washington street," the judge said.

In the best interest of the child he will spend part time in each home, he added.

Thane will attend school in Waupaca while living with his grandparents. This was the boy's wish and proved best after examination on several occasions by a psychiatrist, the judge said.

Weekends and other times will be spent with his father at the Scandinavia home.

The case began in 1952 with divorce proceedings, when Mules was separated from his first wife. He did not contest the divorce and accepted alimony and support responsibilities.

Mrs. Mules was killed in an automobile accident June 21, 1955. Her three children (only Thane is Mule's child) lived in Scandinavia. Thane was then sent to live with her parents, the Daniells, with the consent of Mules. In December, 1957, County Judge A.M. Schiller appointed Daniell Thane's guardian with Mule's consent.

Custody of Thane was changed May 26 to Thane's father by an order of Judge R.und. After the custody transfer Daniell obtained a court order to show cause why the youngster should not be returned to him.

More Families
Over $4,000
Annual Wage

County Above State,
National Averages
In Household Income

Outagamie county has more of its families in the over $4,000 categories and fewer in the lower income groups than have most communities in the United States.

A shift upward has been occurring in almost every group, with families graduating from one income level to the next higher.

The details are brought out by Sales Management in a copyrighted report that shows, for each area, what part of its population falls within each of the income classifications.

The survey throws light on what constitutes "average income" and whether it represents earnings that are fairly well distributed or whether it consists of a few families with large incomes compensating for a great many with small incomes.

In Outagamie county, the spread is good and the average comparatively high. Some 61.6 per cent of the local households, it is shown, are in net income brackets of $4,000 or better.

The proportion is higher than that found in the United States as a whole, where only 59.2 per cent of all households are in the plus-$4,000 income class.

(It is necessary to remember that in Outagamie county many families have more than one worker. The averages cited in this article refer not to the husband's salary or wage, but to the income of the entire family, which could include several persons, and income, from rentals, investments and the like.)

It is also above the average in the state of Wisconsin, which amounts to 57.6 per cent.

Inherent in the rise in income levels, as far as the business man and the community at large are concerned, is the promise that it carries of greater consumer purchases.

A Nation's Business report states an increase of only 10 per cent in community income, when it is due to larger per-family earnings, will produce an increase of 24 per cent in durable goods purchases. When the 10 per cent results solely from population growth, however, it will produce only a 10 per cent rise in buying of durables.

$7,000 to $10,000
In Outagamie county, it is found, 14.3 per cent of the households are now in the $7,000 to $10,000 bracket. As a group, they account for 20.9 per cent of all local income.

Those with net earnings of $2,500 to $4,000 a year constitute 20.7 per cent of the households. They have at their disposal 11.9 per cent of the local income.

The total in the over $4,000 groups, representing 61.6 per cent of the households, have 83.3 per cent of the combined income.

Child's Leg Broken
When He's Hit by Auto

Kimberly—Karl Lamers, 31-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lamers, 238 S. Washington street, suffered a fractured leg when he was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Hubert Van Oss, 704 E. Third street, about 4:30 p.m. Thursday in front of his house.

Mrs. Van Oss told police Karl darted into the path of her car.

Sam Peckinpah Script Writer For Westerns

Grew Up on Ranch, Plans to Go Into Production End

BY PATRICK McNULTY

Hollywood —(AP)— Next time you tune in "Gunsmoke," "Rifleman" or the other TV shoot-'em-ups, think of Sam Peckinpah. He's the fellow who puts the brave words in the hero's mouth.

Sam is a writer — one of a new hybrid breed that has grown right with television.

Writers for movies and Broadway usually are established professionals. It's difficult for a barefoot boy with typewriter to break in.

Not so in television. Many of TV's brightest writing names, Paddy Chayefsky and Rod Serling among them, began just where Sam did four years ago—broke and hungry.

Heading for Production

Many have graduated into the production end of the business. They are busy writing, directing and producing their own brainchildren.

That's where Sam is heading. Why? Very simple. That's where the dollars are.

Sam got the message after an agency hired him to write a movie scenario from the novel, "The Authentic Death of Henry Jones." Sam's script was sold as "One-Eyed Jacks," a western in which Marion Brando directed and Sam writes only westerns.

Sam got $4,000 for his trouble naturally. He was reared on a cattle ranch near North Fork, in California's rugged Madera county.

After four years in the Marine corps, Sam had a brief fling as a drama student at the University of Southern California. He worked as a stagehand at a local television station when a friend suggested he try to adapt an old "Gunsmoke" radio script for TV.

Sam did and the producers liked it. He wrote 12 more

"Gunsmokes" and a score of half-hour westerns.

The lean and hungry years when Sam worked into the wee hours to finish a script for early morning shooting are over. Sam has pretty well arrived.

He is one of the creators of the "Rifleman" series and twice has been nominated for the Writers Guild of America's best western award.

Clown Trade Dying, Says Emmett Kelly

Now Out of Circus, Entertainer On Longest 1-Place Run of Career

BY BOD THOMAS

Hollywood —(AP)— Where are the clowns of yesteryear? "They're dying off," says Emmett Kelly, one of America's great clowns. "A lot of them have left the business. There aren't many new clowns coming up because the young kids don't see any future in clowning."

"In the old days, there were 26 circuses on rails. Even the smallest would have about 25 clowns. The Ringling circus was split into two units with 40 clowns apiece."

"A clown could look forward to moving up then. He'd start with a carnival, and as he perfected his act, he'd get offers from bigger shows. Eventually he could work up to the big show. But now Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey has gone in for auditorium presentations and carries only about 35 clowns."

It's significant that Emmett Kelly is out of the circus and having the longest run in one place of his 38-year career. He is officially vice president in charge of fun at Pacific Ocean park, where he spends his days mingling among the kids and making them laugh.

I saw him during a break in his chores, and he was worryingly about his extravagantly tattered costume. He explained that he couldn't risk washing or dry-cleaning it and the cologne he poured onto it didn't always do the job on a hot day.

"This is the first time I've ever played an amusement park," Kelly remarked. "I've done just about everything—carnivals, circuses, baseball and basketball games, movies, TV. But I've never been able to stay in one place so long. I'll be here 19 weeks."

His comments on the decline of the clown are significant because of the recent death of Grock, the great European clown. Many others here and abroad are no longer at their ancient profession. Is there any hope for a revival?

"I know of only one new field that offers possibilities," Kelly remarked. "That's the shopping center. Entertainment centers for those neighborhood centers is getting to be a big thing. I'm thinking of getting up a unit to tour them."

Members of the telephone committee are Mrs. Carl Chopin, Mrs. Alphonse Berens, Mrs. Wenzel Conrad, Mrs. Robert Goetzman, Mrs. William Ludke, Mrs. Edward Oliva, Mrs. Hollis Whitman, Mrs. John Russo and Mrs. Carl Runte.

Sessions Planned — Parents will register from 7 to 7:25 p.m. in the lobby of the high school and will use the main, or Oak street, entrance. Mrs. August Straus will have charge of registration.

Following three discussion periods of one-half hour each, parents and faculty will participate in a coffee hour in the lunch room. Mrs. Howard Sprenger is chairman of the social committee.

The three sessions, devoted to course of study, school rules and policies, and co-curricular activities will be held in the library and east and west study halls. Chairmen include Miss Frances Corry, Principal Julian Bichler and Coach Fred Barribeau.

Committee chairmen met with Mrs. Davis, Principal Bichler and T. H. Boebel, superintendent of schools, Wednesday afternoon to discuss preliminary plans. Committee meetings were held Thursday morning for each group to complete plans.

Cool Weather Closes Pool

Kaukauna — Cool weather has resulted in the closing of the swimming pool for the season, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

If weather had continued warm the pool would have remained open through Monday. Pool attendance during the year went over the 70,000 mark, an increase of about 10,000 over last year, according to figures. This includes morning swim classes as well as afternoon and evening open swimming.

The pool opened earlier this year and had about 3,000 swimmers report by the time of last year's opening date.

Garbage Collection Delayed by Holiday

Kaukauna — There will be no garbage pick-up in the city Monday due to Labor day, according to Robert Natrop, city engineer, the regular Monday run to be made on Tuesday.

The normal Tuesday run will be followed and the pick-up for the remainder of the week will be normal.

Crews of the Kaukauna Electric and Water departments are installing mercury vapor lights on Main street in Little Chute. Twelve lights are to be erected on Main and three on Grand avenue in the major part of the business district.

To Your Good Health

Old Fad to Remove Plants From Sick Rooms at Night

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My earliest recollection of fundamental medicine was that human beings exhale carbon dioxide while plant life absorbs it, returning oxygen to the atmosphere. It would seem, therefore, that plants in the house would be beneficial, but someone said that in hospitals they remove all plants at night from patients' rooms. They might do it, of course, to water the plants or allow easier cleaning, but after talking to half a dozen men of fairly good intelligence, I have not found a clear answer to my first stated opinion. — T.F.S., Jr."

I quite agree with you. Plants absorb carbon dioxide. The leaves retain the carbon (plant life is primarily carbon) and give off oxygen. It used to be that plants were diligently removed from hospital or sick rooms. I can remember when this was true, so nurses who were brought up with this habit are plentiful enough.

But why did this notion evolve? I do not know.

However, let me carry on with another thought. The fact that plants thus filter carbon out of the atmosphere and give off oxygen does not mean that plant life gives off any enormous amounts of oxygen — or picks up an enormous amount of carbon. A tree, with thousands of leaves, accumulates quite a lot of carbon over a period of 25 or 50 years. How much is that per day? Not a great deal.

Not Much Difference

What I'm getting at is this: A geranium plant in the parlor or an African violet in a hospital room isn't going to make much difference. A forest of trees is something else.

In the sick room, an open window (with a screen to prevent a direct draft on the patient) is going to admit a thoroughly adequate supply of fresh air, and oxygen.

One of the hazards of health is ignoring the fundamental rules, such as good diet, adequate but not excessive exercise, proper sleep, and avoiding the various notable bad habits.

Another hazard, or at any rate another factor which is a case of wasteful effort, is being misled by some fad or notion.

hospital or sick rooms. I can remember when this was true, so nurses who were brought up with this habit are plentiful enough.

But why did this notion evolve? I do not know.

However, let me carry on with another thought. The fact that plants thus filter carbon out of the atmosphere and give off oxygen does not mean that plant life gives off any enormous amounts of oxygen — or picks up an enormous amount of carbon. A tree, with thousands of leaves, accumulates quite a lot of carbon over a period of 25 or 50 years. How much is that per day? Not a great deal.

Lawrence Says

Sustaining Veto Enhances Ike's Party Position

GOP in Congress Stood Firm Against Selfish Interests

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — It's a good thing that, in the midst of his fateful trip to European capitals, President Eisenhower has not been confronted with unfavorable news from congress. For, had the president's veto of the $1 billion public-works

Lawrence bill been overridden, the people of Europe, accustomed as they are to a parliamentary system of government, might have construed the roll call as a formal vote of "lack of confidence" in Mr. Eisenhower. This could have had a frustrating effect on the president's mission abroad, where a majority vote against the party in power customarily means a change in executive leadership.

Little consideration, on the other hand, was given here to this point by most members of congress in their voting on the merits of the public-works bill that the president had vetoed. Since none of Mr. Eisenhower's previous 143 vetoes have been overridden by the necessary two-thirds vote of both houses, dramatic attention was centered on the final roll call.

On The Spot

The margin of one vote by which the veto was sustained may or may not reflect the maneuvers that went on inside both parties. For the issue really turned on what the folks back home would say in those districts where water-power projects and other federal construction proposals had been promoted.

Every member of congress

necessary to health, is one of the commonest such notions, and is a reasonable sample of other such fads.

In general there is nothing wrong with eating the various foods that are chosen for these fads — but there's nothing marvelously good, either. They just don't matter one way or the other.

And so, too, for worrying about whether plants are, or are not in the sick room at night. The difference is too slight to matter.

For a final point, how about this: If (as the false old theory has it) plants "rob the air of oxygen," which they don't, wouldn't it be just as bad to have them doing it during the day as at night?

See how curious some of these beliefs become?

Trench Mouth

NOTE TO L. S.: One of the causes of a "metallic" taste in the mouth is Vincent's Disease, often inelegantly called "trench mouth." Certain drugs also can cause it, as well as occasionally other things I've mentioned from time to time.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to me in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a large, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

who had urged federal appropriations that would bring about the building of public-works projects in his own district naturally was on the spot.

Some Republicans, but only a handful, did vote to override the veto. Only a small group of Democrats deserted their party leadership in siding with the president. The issue was decided primarily by a straight party vote of Republicans and Democrats, respectively. The small number who crossed party lines really wielded the balance of power. Maybe if there had been any way to determine in advance exactly how the voting would go, the defenders of the bill might have won out. The last-minute changes indicated that nobody was quite sure of the outcome.

As it was, there were all sorts of stories being circulated among the members to put them in a quandary. Thus, the vetoed bill contained appropriations for 67 new projects which the president said had not been provided for by the budget bureau or checked on by the army engineers, who have for the most part the responsibility for their construction. It seemed to many members that it would be better to have new legislation passed that would specifically take care of projects already under way without initiating additional projects. This was the main point in the president's policy in his veto.

Mr. Eisenhower has adhered to basic principles in his relations with congress, and he is getting the support of the country because of the sound approach he has taken.

Pork-Barrel Pressure

The fact that nearly two-thirds of the membership of the house of representatives wanted to override the veto indicates how intense is the pressure for what has often been called "pork barrel" legislation. As the projects emerge from committee, a congressman often feels he has to support the projects in another member's district in order to get support for his own.

It was surprising, indeed, to find the veto sustained, but it was largely due to the devotion of the Republican party in congress to the president's leadership. Had the Republicans given way to selfish local interests, the veto would easily have been overridden. The final test, sustaining the president's leadership, cannot but have a favorable effect on the Republican party's position in the country, enhancing its prestige as a responsible party which is anxious to keep the budget in balance and to maintain the nation's finances on a sound basis, as against extravagant spending and other inflationary policies.

Teenage Warfare

The raging gang battles that are being carried on in New York among gangs of teenagers is a disgrace to the government of New York and likewise to the government of every other city of the state where such outbreaks have been tolerated. New York's Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy has assigned 1,400 extra police to patrol duty "in the trouble spots" around the city during the hours from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. Four people have been killed as a result of gang fights during the past week. Since the first of the year police have arrested 57 persons under 21 years of age for murder or manslaughter, and 197 under 21 for rape. The heavy police patrols now being assigned to different locations about the city may reduce the violence for a time but it cannot be considered a cure by any means. The city has special volunteer workers assigned to all of the known gangs and through them they have a pretty good knowledge of what is going on. It appears that the teenagers have organized a special gang government of their own. Each gang knows its territory, knows where its rivals hold out and uses every means at hand to maintain its rights. The description of the gang's methods of operation appear to be similar to those of small states ruled by dictators. Each gang has its leader. It is his duty to see that the gang is kept intact and that it suffers no insult from any neighboring gang. Boys from the other gangs are not permitted to enter territory of another. If they do a fight is sure to start which may end with an all-out battle between the

The Appointment of Federal Judges

Forty-five additional federal judges are needed to adequately handle the business that is now crowding federal courts. The judicial conference which includes the chief justice of the United States and the chief judge of each of the U. S. Courts of Appeals have recommended that the 45 additional judges be distributed among the districts and the circuits with the most crowded calendars. That recommendation is three years old but a bill to provide these judges has gotten nowhere in Congress. One reason, of course, is the reluctance of Democratic legislators to give such a big list of appointments to a Republican president. As a means of meeting this problem Atty. Gen. Rogers told the American Bar association at its annual convention in Miami Beach that President Eisenhower is willing to fill half of the seats with Democrats if Congress creates additional federal judgeships. He assured a news conference that he was speaking with the approval of President Eisenhower on that point. He declared that because the new judges are so urgently needed the administration is willing to agree to a 50-50 arrangement on appointments, whether the Congress supplies the recommended number of judgeships or only part of them. Earlier in the session the bar association had adopted a resolution calling for a balance between the two major parties in federal judicial selections. Atty. Gen.

Oklahoma Gets Legal Liquor

For 52 years there has been no such thing as a legal intoxicating beverage in the state of Oklahoma. All that was changed Sept. 1 when some 500 state liquor stores opened for business. However, about the only difference observers were able to notice between the constitutionally dry Oklahoma and the new wet Oklahoma was that in the future the state will collect $2.40 per gallon on the liquor dispensed. In the past liquor has been available to anyone who wanted it through bootleggers. But since it was illegal the state could collect no taxes on it although a few dollars may have been picked up in fines when violators were arrested. However, there has been no serious effort to enforce the anti-liquor law in the past and so bootleggers flourished and anyone wishing liquor could get it readily. As a matter of fact it can be said quite

Ninth Hole Chapel Idea Symptom of Age

Speaking of trading stamps and stamp swapping as inducements to attend worship services, as our neighbor in Calhoun, sometimes does, we note a story from Chicago which is the kind that plunges a fellow into deep reflection. The first paragraph of the Chicago story asks: "Can a man find salvation on a golf course?" Some Chicago clergymen doubt it, the story from the Big Town on the lake said, but some were willing to try. One was quoted as saying: "I am all for establishing a chapel on the ninth hole. The golfers who are having a good day could give two gangs. This can be over invasion of a territory, because of some imaginary insult to one of the gang members or to a member of his family, or because some member of a rival gang has sought the favor of a teenage girl in a rival's territory. These wars or battles are planned with great care. Gang members gather together all the weapons they can find including clubs, knives, links of chain, pistols, revolvers and even rifles. The slightest affront to one of the gang leaders is reason enough for an all-out battle. The welfare workers who are working with these gangs attempt to keep the struggle within bounds and often are able to avert outright gang warfare but not always. It is pretty obvious that these gangs grow and are nurtured because most of the boys have no family life. It appears from this distance that they are left almost entirely on their own and they follow their natural impulse to organize groups or gangs and soon find themselves in competition with other groups or gangs. It would be impossible for them to collect the quantity of weapons that is often revealed in a gang fight if they had even fair supervision. Most of these boys are not only unsupervised but they are almost completely idle since they have few if any chores to do and it is illegal for many of them to work for wages. Some of them will be occupied during the school year but a fair proportion of them will prove to be unmanageable in school and soon will be out on the streets on their own again, free to organize others like them who are unable to accept school discipline and are idle and free to get into mischief.

Rogers, taking note of this resolution, pointed out that when the present administration came into power in 1953 about 80 per cent of the federal judges were Democrats. At that time, he said, Republicans were not interested in being nonpartisan in the matter because they were too far behind. However, at this time he says the number of Republican and Democratic federal judges is about even. For that reason, he said, it is a good time to work for nonpartisan appointments. He declared that he would urge the Republicans to support that idea in 1960. The method provided in the Constitution for naming federal judges is a fairly simple one and it has often been praised because it tends to insure careful selections. However, it is not a very workable means in practice. In fact the advice and consent of the Senate often amounts to merely the advice and consent of one senator or possibly two senators in the state from which the appointee comes or the state in which he is to take office. Days, weeks and months often go by before the senators in a state are able to agree on a candidate. The fact of the matter is that the advice and the consent of the Senate is almost never the careful judgment of the Senate membership. The Rogers proposal may help to get legislation opening up additional judgeships, but we are still a long way from finding a reasonable method of making such appointments.

safely that there has never been any such thing as a dry state. This is because it has never been possible to enforce Prohibition for any length of time. The people of Oklahoma saw the folly of their ways last April 7 when they voted for repeal. Since there has never been any noticeable shortage of liquor in Oklahoma, no one seriously expects any great increase in the consumption of liquor due to the new arrangement. In fact the liquor business is being continued on much the same basis as in the past. There will be no public drinking as the liquor will be dispensed in packages from stores. The consumer can drop in at a liquor store and pick up his bottle just as he used to pick it up from the bootlegger. The only difference will be that the profits that formerly went to the bootlegger will now go, in part at least, to that state as taxes.

He will immediately be downed, we have no doubt, in a chorus of hoots and hoo's. This idea of bringing church to the sportsman — upon tee, dock and where — is no doubt just another symptom of an age when everything has to be fun. Also when everything has to be easier, softer, pleasanter, milder and less trouble. Don't walk if you can ride. Don't push something if you can get it self propelled. Just float through life in a cocoon, feeling no pain and worrying as little as possible about the kids. If anything should by mischance intrude upon your consciousness, threaten to be unpleasant or require any thought, just call it something else and maybe it will go away. Floating through life: that's the main idea.

Ships Change, but Not Sailors' Superstitions

From The Calgary, Alberta, Herald. Though the huge ocean greyhounds of today have little in common with the ships of the ancient mariner's time — except that they float — the men that sail them have changed very little apparently down the centuries. The same superstitions persist, as witness the thirty crew members of a British ship who were discharged recently after they refused to sail their ship because of an albatross. The albatross has long been to sailors what Friday the thirteenth is to most landlubbers — only a good deal more so. These particular deep-water men had arrived in Liverpool after a harrying trip from the Antarctic with the albatross — destined for a German zoo — and refused to continue the trip to Oslo. And there is evidence to suggest that the "top brass" of the shipping company secretly agreed with the seamen, at least as far as the ill-luck inherent in albatrosses is concerned. For the sailors, instead of being handed "bad" discharges for their conduct which could have made it hard for them to get another ship, were let off lightly with "good" discharges. Which seems to suggest that the top officials showed the white feather when it came to giving the bird to the albatross bad luck theory. There is plenty of evidence to substantiate the hoary theory in this instance. En route from the Antarctic with the big bird, the ship's generator broke down and then the heating and water systems failed and for three weeks the crew had to use candles for illumination. To cap the misfortunes — if this can be termed a misfortune from the point of view of the sailors — the albatross up and died of, they say, food poisoning. Though there is no direct evidence to suggest foul play, in view of the ancient superstition it seems quite possible that one of the crew tried to feather his own nest by slipping the albatross a mickey finned sardine. All of which may prove the other old adage about killing two birds with one stone. At any rate, everything came out all right in the end for everybody except the albatross and the German zoo officials. The latter may have to settle for a penguin from the Antarctic unless they want to ship an albatross by air express. For sailors don't believe that one about the bird in the hand.

Looking Backward

New Canal Project on Fox River

79 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Sept. 4, 1880. Through the indomitable energy, push and determination of Judge Harriman, his efforts have succeeded in inducing several parties to unite with him in opening a canal along the river face of the Newberry purchase in the Fourth Ward, commencing at a point south and west of the canal that supplies the Richmond mills and running thence north-east some 2,300 feet to a point a few hundred feet west of the gate entrance to Telulah park. The west end of the canal for a distance of about 600 feet will be 130 feet wide at the top, then reduced 60 and 40 feet at the terminus. The width of the western portion of the canal will prove to be a splendid reservoir, ensuring an ample supply of waters for all the powers that hereafter may be utilized. The Judge is pushing the work as rapidly as means and men can accomplish it, and expects to finish it by the 10th of October. He has had 35 teams and 85 men at work, and expects to increase the number next week. 25 YEARS AGO Friday, Aug. 31, 1934 John E. Hantschel, county clerk, received the county's supply of Hunting licenses and the first permit was issued to Dr. A. Lester Koch, Appleton, who also received the first license the previous year. Mrs. Marie Geiger Turley, Oshkosh, was to begin work at First Congregational church, succeeding W. F. Bradburn, who resigned.

Under the Capitol Dome Highway Revisions Await Second Term

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The state administration's highway development policy and program is slow in emerging. During his campaign and in several deliberate public statements since his installation, Gov. Nelson has indicated he favors a fairly comprehensive revision of state road building programs — with the emphasis upon the more rapid provision of thoroughways including some routes not now in existence. His aides when they are called upon to discuss their plans and outlook usually repeat such general comments. Thus at a policy instruction seminar of Democratic opinion leaders a few days ago, a Nelson secretary again talked about the need for better roads penetrating the upper Wisconsin tourist regions and more east-west roads to provide access from the vast agricultural hinterland of Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota to Wisconsin Lake Michigan ports connected with the enlarged St. Lawrence seaway.

NO ACTION

Yet the governor has not yet got down to specifics to authorize the new programs or to pay for them, and there is no real sign that he intends to present such plans to the legislature in the fall. Because that fall session will be fully occupied with the enormous financial problems confronting it and the dozens of major measures held over from the spring session there is considerable doubt that such basic adjustments in the highway laws would get the depth of consideration they would warrant. And because the governor has made it clear that his program, when it is presented, will involve an amendment of the constitution to provide borrowing for the super-highway program, it is unlikely that he would risk complications for his state institution borrowing amendment in the fall with a second

Divert a River for New Wood Shipping Plan

From Newspaper Facts Take one river. Divert it into an 8-inch pipeline. Take 5,000 pulpwood trees and reduce them to one-inch chips. Put the chips into the pipeline and send the mixture coursing 50 or 100 miles overland from woods to mill. Will it work? This is the outline of a research project now under way in the crawl space under the new laboratory building of the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada in a Montreal suburb. It is one of many projects supported by paper industry contributions of more than $1 million a year. Dr. Lincoln R. Thiesmeyer, president of the institute, says it has already been established in principle that it is possible to supply a good-sized (700-ton-a-day) newsprint mill with all the wood it needs in this way. He is not yet ready to say whether this can be done at a saving over present methods. Key element in the research is an 8-inch aluminum pipeline in a loop a tenth of a mile long under the laboratory floor. Through the pipeline are pumped thousands of gallons of water containing tons of pulpwood chips. The chips travel along in their water slurry at a rate of four to 10 feet per second as scientists watch, measure, and analyze. The test pipeline was moved into the crawl space from outdoors to permit the experiments to go on despite freezing weather. Freezing is one of the problems which would have to be solved in actual use, possibly with anti-freeze, perhaps by locating the pipeline at the bottom of a flowing stream. Some of the other questions: What frictions are set up in the pipeline? Will cheaper steel piping work as well as aluminum? Does plastic pipeline present certain advantages? What happens when velocity is lost in a given section of line? What is the corrosion picture? How much wood deterioration takes place? The most important question, however, is whether this method of wood shipment will cost less in the long run than the present traditional cartage of logs to lakes and rivers and flotation downstream to the mills.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede offered Archquette the choice after the man admitted cashing a $44 check July 17 in the town of Ellington.

Little Chute — Three persons were injured, one critically, when a car driven by Elwyn LeBrec, 21, route 1, Kaukauna, crashed into a telephone pole at 311 Main street and then skidded 220 feet into a tree about 2:10 a.m. today.

Richard Van Bostel, 20, of 704 Grand avenue, is reported in critical condition at Kaukauna Community hospital. Last sacraments of the Catholic church were given him this morning. He is suffering head injuries and a possible skull fracture.

Also at Kaukauna Community is Eugene Vander Loop, 20, route 1, Kaukauna, another passenger. He is reported in fair condition, with hand lacerations and head contusions.

LeBrec was treated at the hospital for a strained back and a bruised nose and released.

LeBrec told the police he was forced across Main street into the pole by another car that did not stop.

Brother, Sister Die in DePere

Green Bay — A brother and sister, both in their 70s, children of a pioneer West DePere family, died within a few hours of each other Wednesday in Green Bay hospitals.

They are Henry Hoks, 74, West DePere, who died after a year's illness, and Mrs. Mary Hockers, 79, also of West DePere, widow of the late Henry Hockers.

Hoks, prominent West DePere businessman who operated the Hoks Wholesale company dealing in flour, feed and groceries for 30 years, was born Jan. 5, 1885, at West DePere, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hoks. As a young man he was employed by the A. G. Wells Elevators, DePere. His widow is the former Ruth White.

Mrs. Hockers died Wednesday after a long illness. She is survived by three sons, William, Robert and Walter, all of DePere; two daughters, time in July, 1952, for theft. He was sent to Boys' Town, Nebraska, in 1953, and returned to Appleton in June, 1957, after the institution decided the boy could not be handled. While at Boys' Town, Fisher reportedly stole three cars and ran away six times.

Released Last Winter
Sept. 30, 1957, Fisher was in court for car theft. Oct. 7 for attempted burglary and on Oct. 11 he was sent to the Waukesha state school for boys. He was released last winter and since has stolen three cars and committed a burglary, records show.

After consultation, Juvenile Court Judge Stanley A. Staidl and Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede decided the youth needed institutionalization.

Mrs. Francis Josephs, Green Bay, and Miss Jane Hockers, at home; and eight grandchildren.

Both Mrs. Hockers and Hoks are survived by two brothers, Peter, Green Bay, and Walter, Friendship; six sisters, Mrs. Dora Secor, Mrs. Albert Hockers, Mrs. Rose Van Duke and Mrs. Gary Van Oss, all of DePere; Mrs. B. A. Balda, Appleton, and Mrs. L. H. Syring, Allouez.

Sparks from welding on the College avenue bridge project set fire to an Appleton Oil company gasoline truck about 10:30 a.m. today.

Schultz put out the flames with a hand extinguisher from the truck cab.

An Interlake worker yelled at Schultz as his truck passed the Interlake site to alert him to the blaze.

Flames were leaping several feet in the air on the outside of the rear of the truck where some 535 gallons of gasoline were being carried. Schultz said.

Schultz said he would ad-

Many Housewives Favor Wood Floors

Durability, Livability Listed As Qualities Most Looked for In Domestic Flooring Material

Elegance, durability and livability or comfort are still the most convincing arguments in favor of wood floors in the home, according to a cross-section survey of 100 housewives listing the most important features they would like to have in their homes.

The survey, conducted by the National Association of Home Builders, revealed in "straight forward" language what the homemakers liked and what they didn't like in their homes. And they were most emphatic about flooring.

Although many said they would like wall-to-wall carpeting, they also were in favor of good, finished floors underneath. Most of them pointed out that in their experience houses with well-kept wood floors, whether or not carpeted, had better resale value. One housewife stated that if worn carpets were removed or a room's decor changed, it was imperative to have beautiful floors to match or complement new decorating schemes.

Lasts Longer
In addition to the appearance argument for wood flooring, a majority felt that wood flooring lasted longer, was easier to keep clean and less tiresome to walk on, even when covered with luxurious, soft-textured carpeting. This resilience factor, stated a mid-west homemaker, can be extremely important in large

Many floor manufacturers today offer their products with factory-applied finishes that eliminate on-the-job sanding and varnishing.
Of the hundreds of native American species of wood only a relative few are used commercially for flooring. The most popular choices are oak, maple, pecan, beech, birch, pine, fir and western hemlock. Each, with distinctive characteristics and texture, offers a wide latitude for preference in beauty, durability and livability.

Tips Offered On Ways to Save Trees

Build Barriers In Effort to Protect Bark

BY GEORGE E. CREED
When you plant a tree you know its value in terms of what you have spent on it in time and money. If you already have trees on property you acquire you may not be quite so aware of their value, yet, if they are mature, healthy trees they may be priceless and irreplaceable.
Therefore they should be protected. Trees are easily damaged and even a minor injury can lead to death. A tree's bark protects it in the same way that human skin protects the body. Just as infection of the body is possible when the skin is broken, the entry of harmful bacteria and fungi are possible when the bark is injured.

Considerable damage is done to trees when modern earth moving equipment is used. Such damage is not confined to the mere scuffing of bark but often consists of the breaking of limbs and the removal of substantial areas of the trunk. Operators of bulldozers, tractors and trucks, if they are careless, can inflict irreparable damage on trees. If you have wooded property that requires grading or on which there will be any movement of trucks or tractors, make certain that each desirable tree is adequately protected.

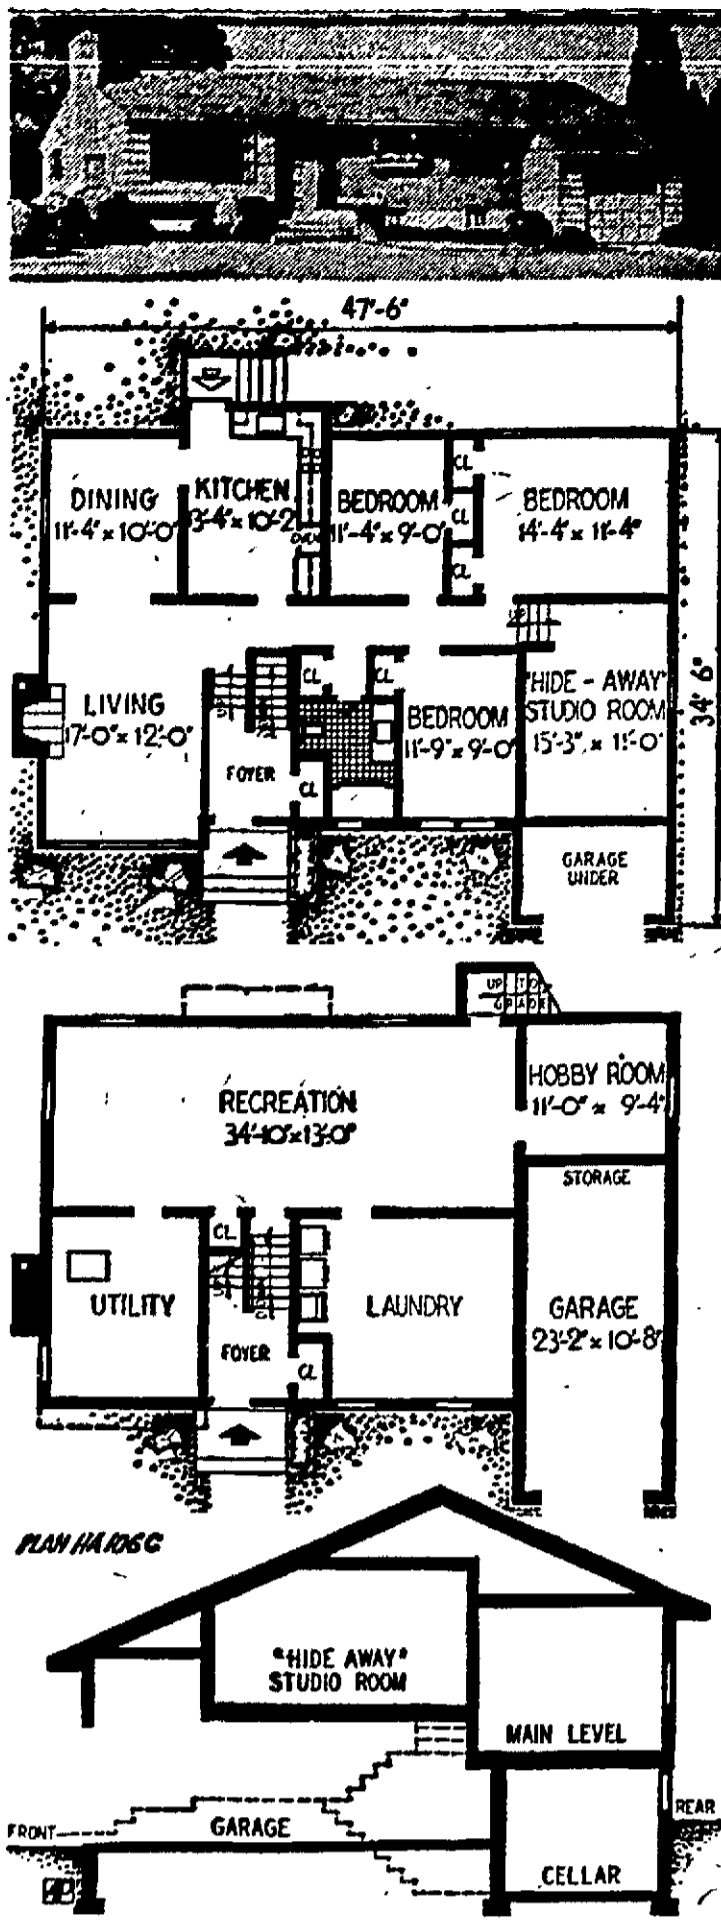

Simple Methods
Two simple methods for protecting trees during such operations are shown in illustrations A and B. That in A consists of 2 by 4's nailed to 2 by 4 corner stakes. These, of course, are not strong enough to withstand a frontal assault by a bulldozer but, like the flimsy gets at a railroad crossing, they stand as warning signals. Where space does not allow the erection of this type of barrier, 2 by 4's bound against the tree itself with wire, as shown in illustration B, furnish very good protection.

Even on developed properties tree damage by lawn mowers and by animals is common. The easily installed guard shown in sketch C is one method of preventing such damage when a tree is small. This is also a good method of protecting young trees from children.

Here's the Answer

Question: We bought our present house five years ago. It is a very old house, with a water well system that operated perfectly until this summer. Now there seems to be a dwindling supply of water through the taps. Can you tell us what might be causing this?

Answer: The most common cause of this is a shrinking of the insides of the piping system. This occurs when there is a buildup of mineral deposits inside the pipes, allowing less and less water to pass through. Sometimes this can be corrected easily by adding phosphate into the water supply. But to be sure that this is done without harm to the drinking water, a water well contractor should be consulted on the proper type of phosphate to use. Economical phosphate feeders are available which automatically control most mineral deposit problems.

Question: The water closet tank in our bathroom is old, chipped and in very bad condition. We have decided to replace it, but before we do, we would like to know whether there is any kind of tank that will prevent condensation. With the present tank, moisture is constantly forming on the outside of the tank and then dripping to the floor. We have tried various methods of correcting the condition with only partial success.

Answer: There are two types of water closet tanks designed to prevent condensation. One has an inner liner made of rubber or plastic which keeps the cold water in the tank from cooling the tank's outer surface. The other consists of two tanks; that is, there is a tank within a tank, with a dead air space between the two. Only the inner tank holds water. The condensation is formed when air heavily laden with water

You Can Give Old Fireplace 'Face Lifting'

Hardboard Panels Provide Bright New Decoration

An old fireplace can be given a "face lifting" over a weekend by a home handyman who likes to keep his home modern and attractive. Ornate mantels that were in tune with interior decorating standards of the earlier day when the fireplace was installed may not fit the present-day setting. Some mantels would look better trimmed down or removed.

The front of the fireplace on the wall above may show indelible signs of wear or soil. Often the only satisfactory solution is to resurface the area.

Marble-pattern panels of hardboard are used in many fireplace modernizing projects to lend a distinctive note befitting such an important element of the room. There are many different patterns to choose from in this material. It can be applied with wall-board adhesive right over old walls and fireplace fronts, including brick surfaces, with removal of loose material or excessive soil the only advance preparation needed. Matching moldings are available to protect corners.

A baked plastic finish guards the beauty of the paneling, makes cleaning easy and prolongs wear.

vapor hits the cold outer surface of the tank. Sometimes the moisture can be dissipated merely by opening a window in the bathroom and letting it escape.

QUESTION: Am setting up a workshop in our basement, which is dry at all times. I plan on putting up a lumber storage rack from some old plumbing pipe which I have on hand. Will this be all right?

ANSWER: Yes, the pipe can be used for this purpose, assuming that it will fit standard elbows and tees. To prevent warpage of the stock, do not place the pipe supports more than five feet apart. Probably the most important thing is not what you use for the storage rack, but how you stack the lumber. Spacer blocks should be placed over each frame crosspiece and between layers of the wood. This will allow sufficient air to circulate around the wood to keep it from warping.

QUESTION: We have an old iron tea kettle that is used mainly for boiling water. How can the grease and rust be removed from the outside of it without spoiling the black, "antique" look?

ANSWER: Apply several coats of oven cleaner and then scrape off with a razor. This should bare the metal, which then can be painted with flat black paint.

Place Stress on Painting Comfort

Brush Design, Color Kept in Mind By Most American Manufacturers

BY ANDY LANG

The hand that rocks the cradle is getting a good grip on the paint brush.

And the manufacturers have become aware of it. They are placing greater stress on styling and color in new paint brush lines. Bright yellow, blue and pink brush handles — even colored brush filaments — are being introduced to capture the eye of homemaker painters.

Ten years ago, women accounted for no more than five cents out of every paint brush dollar. Much of that represented purchases made at the requests of their husbands. Today, approximately 35 cents of every dollar spent on the purchase of paint brushes comes from women.

Furthermore, according to a survey by the Paint Brush Division of the American Brush Manufacturers' association, nearly all of that 35 cents is being spent by the women who actually do the painting. The survey was made in paint, hardware and department stores and other retail establishments where painting supplies are sold.

What else was found out about women as wielders of paint brushes around the house? Well, this is the part that the men should skip. It was learned that women make better — than — average painters because they are more concerned with the final appearance than most men. They spend more time selecting the right color and thinking about the end result.

suits. Thus, when they are ready to paint, they do the work more carefully.

Good Painters

And, according to the survey, women are rarely sloppy painters for the very simple reason that they realize they have to clean up later.

What do the women paint? Chairs most frequently. Kitchen tables and cabinets are next, followed by juvenile furniture and toys. Very often, a woman's first paint job is an emergency project, such as painting a badly scratched surface. Of every 10 women who paint for the first time, nine are said to gain enough confidence in their ability to move on to larger projects.

Several reasons are given for the rapid increase in painting by women. Labor-saving home appliances, convenience foods, etc., give them more time for home maintenance and improvement. Tight family budgets prompt do-it-yourself painting jobs. And new quick-dry paints and other industry advances make painting easier and encourage women to try their hands at it.

Housing Holds Against Inflation

Increase in Value Outstrips All Boosts in Dollar Outlay for Home

Where does housing stand in the battle against inflation? Is it feeding the fire or holding it back?

There seems to be no argument on the point that the dollar buys less of anything — including housing — than it did ten years ago. The dollar has gone down in value more than 40 per cent since the end of World War II. All the important items in the cost of living index have gone up accordingly.

But they haven't all gone up at the same rate. And housing has probably gone up the least of any major item in the family budget.

Minimum House
Certainly, you can point to a row of 2-bedroom bungalows and wistfully comment that "they only cost $7,500 apiece right after the war." But who would buy such a house today? Maybe the so-called "minimum" house of today costs $12,000 or even $15,000, but the increase in value has more than outstripped the push of inflation. Look at some of the items in the 1959 housing package:

One and one-half bathrooms at least, possibly two, with copper plumbing instead of the galvanized that prevailed right after the war. Large rooms, bigger closets, more lot, improved recreation areas, both inside and outside.

Better Heating
Vastly improved heating equipment and controls. Insulation in both ceilings and sidewalls makes heating plant more efficient. With material like insulating siding, sidewall insulation does not bring the headache of peeling paint which plagued builders and home owners during the immediate post-war period.

General improvements in styling. Builders have realized that the boom days of easy sales are over. People don't buy out of desperation. They want a home that is attractive. The result has been an increased emphasis on style.

Consider just these points and you can readily see that the $15,000 house of today has much more than twice as much value as the $7,500 house of 14 years ago. Housing is still a bargain, inflation or not.

Chicago — Union meat packing house workers struck Swift and company and Wilson and company, two giants of the meat industry, early today.

Then the unions quietly called off the Wilson strike with a joint agreement to continue wage-hour talks for 24 hours.

The United Packinghouse Workers of America and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen called the strikes at Swift's plants in 34 cities and at Wilson's plants in seven cities to enforce demands — rebuffed by both companies — for higher wages and other benefits in a new contract replacing one which expired Monday.

Talks Since July
The contract talks have been underway since early July. Two days ago, Armour and company, another of the big four of the meat packing industry, signed a contract granting wage boosts and some of the other union requests. The other industry leaders were expected to follow.

But Swift and Wilson stood firm despite the intervention of federal mediators who have held virtually continuous sessions with both sides for the last 48 hours.

At midnight, a spokesman for the two unions said the strike at Swift and Wilson was on. Two hours later, he said Wilson and the two unions had agreed to continue the wage-hour talks for 24 hours, and the Wilson strike was off "at least for the time being." He said the unions and Wilson would resume talks at noon. Among the Swift plants are those in Milwaukee and Menominee, Mich.

Middle Income Tax Increase Possible

again on Nov. 2 primarily to consider tax measures.

The most striking conclusions of the tax report included:

Wisconsin ranks third among its neighboring states in relation of total state and local taxes to personal income, which Gronowski said economists favor as a basis of comparison, and 11th among all the states.

But on a per capita basis, Wisconsin ranks highest in a 7-state north central region and 11th among the states.

Wisconsin taxes property comparatively heavier than most other states in the country and a little higher than its immediate neighbors.

This state places more reliance upon corporate and individual income taxes than most states.

Farm Taxes
Wisconsin agricultural taxation is about on a par with that of neighboring states, which repudiated some of the campaign charges of leading politicians in Wisconsin during recent years.

The corporation income tax and the personal property tax bear with comparatively heavy weight on manufacturing enterprise, although both are mitigated by federal tax deductibility.

The total Wisconsin state and local tax picture is regressive—in terms of taxes proportionate to personal income—in the lower income classes, barely proportional in the middle income group and progressive, or comparatively high, in the upper income bracket.

That means, the governor was told, that the majority of earners in the middle brackets pay a smaller proportion of their income for the cost of government than do the lower and upper income brackets and probably suggests the often-repeated proposal to "broaden the income tax base."

Wisconsin in general has a more progressive tax system than most of states, a conclusion which led to a confession of uncertainty by the four University of Wisconsin tax professors and the comment by Gronowski that "it is a problem for the politicians."

The researchers explained that the fact that Wisconsin lower income bracket taxpayers are now paying relatively high effective tax rates, considering all forms of state and local taxes, seems to call for some degree of progressivity in any supplementary tax program by the state.

But on the other hand, the fact that the Wisconsin state and local tax system is on the whole less regressive, compared with other states and competing states, appears to point to a tax policy in the opposite direction, the committee said.

Business Location
The group also left hanging the much-disputed relation of business taxes to business location. The committee said it cannot be shown conclusively that economic growth here or anywhere has been affected significantly by tax differential. But it said the point cannot be disproved either, although Prof. W. D. Knight of the committee filed a dissenting opinion in which he said that taxation together with geographical location becomes a factor in location decision.

On the whole, and although Gov. Nelson spoke very carefully to reporters this morning, the documents appeared to give some aid and comfort to those forces demanding some form of sales taxation to adjust the burden of income and property taxation.

Sales tax advocates have pointed repeatedly to the repeal of the personal property tax as one of the benefits that can be achieved through the enactment of some kind of a sales tax law that is now used by about two-thirds of the states.

Other Attempts
But the Wisconsin personal property tax law before often has been proposed for repeal, without resulting action. Gov. Nelson demanded its repeal several months ago, before his tax study got underway.

The professors' tax study made the attack on the basis of its various assumptions about the incidence of the tax burden, but Gronowski declared firmly today that despite such admitted weaknesses, the tax report is the best factual document available on both the impact and incidence of all Wisconsin taxes, state and local.

Based upon the total picture of recent political discussions in Wisconsin and the current political alignment, the report appears to justify forecasts that future tax policy in Wisconsin will be in one of two directions:

1. Heavier levies upon middle income bracket earners under the state personal income tax, perhaps as a temporary and stop-gap action.

2. Some form of selective sales taxation, with adjustments and other tax burdens, such as a personal property tax, as a long-range goal and anticipating continuing increases in the cost of state and local government.

Schellie said that hiring Hammond should not be a part of the agreement. No commission member asked that it be included.

Still ahead are working out a contract, ratification of it by member communities and apportionment of its cost.

Wood indicated a special meeting of the commission's executive committee — member municipalities' leaders — will be called as soon as the contract and details of its signing are completed.

that vote," declared Neenah's Mayor Chester Bell. "This ought to be an eye or no vote without any conditions which would make the whole project vulnerable."

Bayorgeon said he wanted to state his city's position and "Kaukauna rests its case."

Obviously in haste to get the project into action, Appleton Citizen Representative Gordon Bubolz asked the commission to delegate authority for signing the contract with the Schellie firm to its officers.

No Legal Entity
However, Bell said, the commission is not a legal entity — it is a very loose organization, completely dependent upon the contributions of its members. "In our eagerness to get this thing rolling, let us make haste slowly."

"We have made more progress tonight than has been made in the last two years," Bell exclaimed. "We should be sure that we know what we are doing and that we make a legally binding agreement," he added.

Menasha Mayor R. G. DuCharme asked if the contract for the 3-year study would be binding on future municipal administrations and if a regular schedule of payments from member municipalities would be followed or if payment would vary with equalized valuation.

Study Coming
Commission Chairman Charles Wood explained that he intended to have the commission's legal committee look over the state law, then recommend what action to follow.

Bayorgeon offered a motion to have the legal committee convene within five working days, and the commission okayed it.

DuCharme reminded the commission his council Tuesday gave him 60 days in which to either vote for the latest proposal or withdraw Menasha from the commission.

Wood said the legal opinion should be ready within 20 days and ratification of any agreement is then up to member municipalities.

Schellie - Hammond Talks
Addressing the commission before presentation of the latest plan for a vote, Schellie said Hammond and he had agreed upon salary. Hammond's loyalty to Schellie as his employer rather than the commission, and that policy decisions will be made by Schellie. Day - to-day office operation is Hammond's responsibility, but the general responsibility for the plan will be Schellie's, he told the commission.

Education Trends Challenge to U. S.

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Are you a high school graduate? If so, only about four out of every 10 Americans aged 15 years and over can say the same at the beginning of this new school term.

Are you a college graduate? If so, you're in that minor 7.3 per cent of our population aged 20 years and over—meaning not even one of every 10 Americans can claim this level of schooling.

Are you impressed by the pictures and news stories which traditionally appear in September, emphasizing how many millions of youngsters are pouring into our schools? If so, perhaps you'll be less impressed when you read that the average schooling of Americans runs to only 10.8 years today, and even by 1980 the average is expected to be up to only 12 years—meaning that while half of our people will have had more than 12 years of schooling, half will have had less.

Census Report

These are the back-to-school weeks when debate about our educational system always reaches a seasonal peak. In search for some not-so-obvious facts, I've been digging into a recent study of educational attainment by the bureau of census.

In this study are the first projections ever made of our educational levels in 1960, 1970 and 1980. The bureau's underlying assumption is, "There will be no unusual political or economic conditions and no extreme changes in educational practices in this country that might seriously affect patterns of educational attainment." Thus, the projections aren't predictions; they are patterns based on foreseeable population growth and trends in schooling.

If you are an American who believes ours is the best of all possible educational systems, you may get pleasure from the projection that there will be 70 million high school graduates in 1970 against 52 million in 1960 and 38 million in 1950. You may be awed by the projection that there will be 11 million college graduates in 1970 against 8 million in 1960 and 6 million in 1950.

Scant Comfort

To me the percentages are scant comfort. What might have been an adequate educational pattern in 1950 won't be an adequate one in 1960, and it'll be even less adequate in 1970.

We will need fewer and fewer unskilled workers in America in this coming decade, fewer and fewer ordinary farmers. We'll need millions more professionals, trained white collar workers, craftsmen and technicians.

The prospect that by 1970, 48 per cent of us will have graduated from high school and 8 1/2 per cent from college doesn't please me. It scares me. The projection that by 1970 half of our sex will have completed the enormous competition for his services lately.

"For the first time in my experience," said Young who is himself a professional teacher, "the professor now has a strong bargaining position."

Can Dictate

He explained that in many specialties the university or college level teacher is now in such demand in industry and in governmental assignments, as well as in other schools, that he can dictate terms of his employment.

Gov. Nelson's budget assistants questioned university and state college officers on the details of their budget requests for the next fiscal year, and particularly their salary fund requests.

Young and E. R. McPhee of the state colleges explained that their regents had directed them to ask for the money originally requested that would provide a 24 per cent increase in salary money available for the current two year period.

Salary Hikes

The recent legislature, at Nelson's request, authorized salary increases equal to about 8 per cent of the total teaching payroll. The money was divided about equally between flat increases and merit increases in the two branches of the state higher education system.

The school officials explained that if the new request is granted the average salary of a full professor at the University of Wisconsin will rise next year to $11,700, with other ranks corresponding and lower. The average professor in the state college system will be raised to about $9,200.

Both figures are for the regular 10 month academic year. Some of the college and university faculty members also teach in summer sessions, for 20 per cent additional compensation.

Fiscal Prospects Frightening as State School Enrollments Mount

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The brutal fiscal implications of the heavily increased waves of enrollment at state-supported institutions of higher learning are starting to sink in.

State government policy makers are reviewing with solemn countenances the enrollment projections for state colleges and universities which will make inevitable steeply increased expenditures over the record higher education budgets of recent years.

Commissioner of Administration Joe E. Nushbaum, now holding informal appropriations conferences on behalf of Gov. Nelson, learned from state college and university spokesmen yesterday that their student bodies will double, at the least, during the next decade.

Both emphasized that they are deliberately conservative in making their estimates. As a result, they are very likely in error, as their past guesses are being proved in error by current enrollment experience.

Right now about 30 per cent of the high school graduates being produced in Wisconsin are enrolling in college, public or private.

But the proportion will almost surely increase. In some states the ratio is about 50 per cent. Private studies by the Ford Foundation show that about 69 per cent of the parents of children want their children to go to college when they come of age.

President E. H. Kleinpell of the state college at River Falls, reporting the results of one projection based upon expected increases in high school graduate enrollment ratios, noted that total Wisconsin college enrollment will climb until it reaches 171,000, about two-thirds of them in tax-paid schools. When the new term of instruction at the state colleges and universities starts later this month, there will be about 41,000 young people enrolled.

Low Estimates

The figure is somewhat higher than had been guessed; the enrollment at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, for example, will be up about 500 this month over expectations.

Commissioner Nushbaum showed that he was fully aware of the meaning of the forecasts. He appeared especially interested in the enrollment outlook for the two years following the present biennium.

The enrollment forecasts will mean multi-million dollar appropriations by the legislature — or a sharp reversal in admissions policies which is not looked for and has not yet actually been proposed by anyone in authority.

High in Class

The record shows that a high proportion of new registrations at both the colleges and the universities represent students in the upper divisions of their high school classes, and informal reports have it that performance requirements have also been increased.

There is some evidence that enrollment in all the schools would be higher today, except for non-academic barriers such as the availability of housing.

Both the university and the colleges have rapidly expanded state-owned dormitory facilities, and have found that their student numbers have increased in proportion. The university is now launching into housing for married students and graduate students and finds the applications for such places twice as numerous as living units.

The university expects a total of 18,230 students on its Madison campus this month, 1,875 in various extension centers and 5,625 at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The nine state colleges expect an enrollment of 15,226.

UW Alums to Hold Annual Jamboree At Riverview Club

Members of the Fox Valley alumni association of the University of Wisconsin will gather for their annual fall jamboree at Riverview Country club Saturday, Sept. 19, with activities planned for afternoon and evening. Don R. Herling is president of the valley alumni; Del Hanke and Dr. Ralph Kennedy are co-chairmen of the jamboree.

Golf and bridge are scheduled for 2 p.m.; cocktails will be served at 6:30 and dinner at 7:30.

The alumni association's autumn plans also include the annual preview meeting for high school seniors interested in attending the state university, when a team of students and a faculty member from the Madison campus will be on hand; and the annual Christmas holidays dance for students, alumni and friends.

Tables Turned In Favor of Professors

Competition Puts Instructors in Bargaining Spot

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison, Wis. — The stereotype of the timid professor, worried about his pay but hesitant about asking for a raise, must be reshaped to fit current conditions, according to budget testimony at the capitol.

Prof. W. H. Young, University of Wisconsin budget officer testifying on the preliminary phases of the university's appropriation needs before executive office aides, said that the tables have turned in favor of the college and university teacher because of the enormous competition for his services lately.

"For the first time in my experience," said Young who is himself a professional teacher, "the professor now has a strong bargaining position."

Can Dictate

He explained that in many specialties the university or college level teacher is now in such demand in industry and in governmental assignments, as well as in other schools, that he can dictate terms of his employment.

Gov. Nelson's budget assistants questioned university and state college officers on the details of their budget requests for the next fiscal year, and particularly their salary fund requests.

Young and E. R. McPhee of the state colleges explained that their regents had directed them to ask for the money originally requested that would provide a 24 per cent increase in salary money available for the current two year period.

Salary Hikes

The recent legislature, at Nelson's request, authorized salary increases equal to about 8 per cent of the total teaching payroll. The money was divided about equally between flat increases and merit increases in the two branches of the state higher education system.

The school officials explained that if the new request is granted the average salary of a full professor at the University of Wisconsin will rise next year to $11,700, with other ranks corresponding and lower. The average professor in the state college system will be raised to about $9,200.

Both figures are for the regular 10 month academic year. Some of the college and university faculty members also teach in summer sessions, for 20 per cent additional compensation.

The picnic will include people from the Fond du Lac, Sun Prairie and Marshfield branches, also.

Herman Wolfgram, production manager, will be in charge of food; Noel Reeves, office manager, refreshments; Nick Winter, sales manager, entertainment; Edward Starks, shipping superintendent, bingo; Jerry Kofarnus and James Lewinski, baseball, and St Simon, plant manager, chairman of all committees.

Retirement Difficult For Bishop Northcott

BY BETTY DUCKLOW

It is always a difficult decision to make when a man must give up his lifetime career.

One of Wisconsin Methodists' greatest leaders, Bishop H. Clifford Northcott, set the wheels in motion Thursday for his eventual retirement. Bishop Northcott announced he would ask to be relieved of his duties at the North Central Jurisdictional conference in Grand Rapids, July 7, 1960.

The Bishop made his intentions known at the morning session of the Wisconsin Area Methodist Pastors' school. He read a letter which will be sent to all ministers and key laymen in Wisconsin. He said that because of physical limitations as a result of thrombosis which overtook him in Cincinnati, Nov. 11, 1958, he would not be able to render normal service which an area has a right to expect of its bishop.

Crowning Year

Bishop Northcott said he believed, along with John Wesley, "Do all the good you can, as long as you can," and he hopes to work very hard at this during his last year. He asked the pastors to help him make this last year of his quadrennium the crowning one of their 12 years of service together.

The one feature Bishop Northcott stressed during his 12 years work was persistent visitation of all the more than 500 churches. Even the smallest is recognized, the bishop said. During his term he was given three foreign assignments to visit the mission stations in Africa in 1950, in southeast Asia in 1953, and South America in 1957.

He is serving on the Board of Missions, the Board of Evangelism, the Commission on Chaplains, and is head of the Commission on Deaconess work.

Pastor 20 Years

Bishop Northcott assumed the duties in Wisconsin after serving a pastorate in Champaign, Ill., one of the country's largest Methodist churches, for more than 20 years. He was born in Exeter, Ontario, Canada, in 1890, and spent his boyhood in Chicago. He went to school at Northwestern university and got his BA and MA degrees there and was later granted the Doctor of Sacred Theology degree. At the Garrett Biblical Institute he was granted his BD and DD degrees and received an honorary DD and Doctor of Laws at Illinois Wesleyan university. He served 12 years as trustee of Northwestern.

Following his retirement next summer, the bishop and his wife, who has never left his side since his illness, have no definite plans, but they hope to continue to live in Madison. Their daughter, Mrs. Dan Ponder, lives at Tuscola, Ill., with her husband and daughter.

Hospital Head Honored at National Talks

Robert Griffiths Appleton Memorial hospital administrator, returned this week from New York City where he was named a fellow of the American College of Hospital Administrators, highest honor conferred upon persons in the field.

Griffiths was based on his work at the local and state levels in hospital administration circles and upon articles written in organization journals.

Griffiths was one of two Wisconsin delegates to the meeting of the house of delegates, governing body of the American Hospital association, at the association convention. One of the highlights was discussion of the continuing national shortage of nurses.

Russians Like U. S. People, Adams Says

USSR Man on Street Happy With New Consumer Goods, Patriotic, Want Peace

BY JACK HOLZHUETER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Russian man on the street likes what's been happening in his homeland in the last six years and feels kindly towards the United States, but government executives — that's another thing.

That is one of the major impressions carried back from an 8-week tour of Russia and Europe by Harold C. Adams, president of the First National bank, who addressed the Fox Cities accountants' association Thursday.

Adams left in late June with 30 other Wisconsinans and University of Wisconsin Prof. Michael Petrovich, Russian expert.

Austere Plans

The moment the plane settled down in Helsinki, Finland, Adams wondered what was ahead. The plane was boarded as austere. The seat had holes in it, and for the first time I wondered what I was getting into.

"But I never again had that feeling while in Russia."

Because Prof. Petrovich spoke Russian fluently and the group traveled as a university study group, the tourists were granted complete access to nearly everything they wanted to see. They visited with the ministers of defense and justice, saw factories, banks, state and collective farms. In addition, the group stopped at U. S. embassies all over Russia.

Had Respect

The group was treated with respect wherever it went, Adams reported. Factory managers and officials frequently talked with the Americans for four or more hours.

They also would answer many questions, the bank president said. The manager of a machine tool factory, however, didn't understand the term "profit" — "We had to ask the difference between income and expense," Adams laughed.

The answer, however, surprised him. The Russian business did very well, showing a better profit margin than many American industries, he said.

Labor Unique

The labor situation there is unique, Adams said. Labor officials relate that strikes are possible, but there have been none recently. Potential strikers are discouraged when officials tell them "it would be against the interests of the people."

The government also welcomes criticism from students, he related. "But afterwards the professor calls the student up and convinces him the Marxist viewpoint is correct."

The common man, however, is influenced more by Russian tradition and culture than Marxist doctrine, Adams observed. They don't seem to work as hard as people around the Fox Cities.

Live Only Once

"One man told me, 'you live only once,'" Adams related. This philosophy has caused traffic jams at well-known resort areas and athletic events, where Russians vacation and take days off.

Such a resort is Socchi, famed for its health-giving sulphur baths for treating almost every ailment. Russians throng there, he said. They generally work 40 - hour weeks, and the state is working to achieve a 35 - hour week, giving many free hours.

Although living conditions are not as grand as in the United States, Russians are happy with them, because they are much better than those they had four or five years ago, he said.

Apartments

In one large metropolitan area, a gigantic 85,000-apartment project was underway, with each apartment house containing either 44 or 88 units.

The houses are in bad repair, Adams related, but the overall impression is one of newness, not of badly-kept buildings. Two or three families generally live in one apartment, where they are assigned by the state. There are few large families, largely because mothers do not want to rear children in crowded areas.

Young people, Adams continued, feel conditions are "so-so," but one older lady expressed amazement at the comparative luxury of her new, but crowded, modest apartment.

Huge Progress

Russians cannot understand how the United States progresses, he maintained, because everybody here seems to be doing something else. "Everybody here has his own ideas. There is no central control," he said.

But Adams doubted, despite huge progress, that Russia could catch up to the United States. The people are very patriotic; they like the new consumer goods available to them; they want peace; but the country would have to make huge strides to catch up to America, which also is making huge strides, he concluded.

Mrs. and Bishop H. Clifford Northcott, Wisconsin area residing bishop, who announced his intention of retiring in July of 1960, discuss their future. Bishop Northcott's request for relief of his duties will be accepted at the North Central Jurisdictional conference in Grand Rapids next year and a new bishop will be appointed. He served Wisconsin area Methodists for 12 years.

Threat to State Aid

Public Schools Need More Teachers Despite Fewer Pupils, State Says

An average of more than 25 pupils per kindergarten teacher in Appleton public schools may force the city to hire another teacher or lose $70,000 in state aids, Supt. of Schools John P. Mann reported.

The threat comes despite 31 fewer pupils this year than last in the public schools as a whole, 11 more teachers and four additional resource people.

Public school enrollment for the first day of classes was 7,578. Parochial school enrollment was 5,331, or 675 more than on the first day a year ago. A big share of the increase is attributable to opening of two Catholic schools — St. Pius Grade school and Xavier High school.

Mann said the board of education must decide immediately whether to hire one or two more kindergarten teachers. Unless at least one is added, he said, the state could change Appleton's school aid rating from integrated to basic, lowering aids about $10 a pupil, or $70,000.

New Schools

Mann said the additional 11 teachers were hired because the city opened Daniel Huntley school and an addition to Richmond school this fall. Small numbers of students transferred from other grade schools to the new schools, lowering the teacher-pupil ratios for primary and intermediate grades to near state requirements.

The state department of public instruction requires a ratio of about 25 pupils per teacher to rate a school district as integrated, Mann explained. Primary and intermediate grades now have a proper ratio, but kindergarten is somewhat above the state level.

The extra teachers were needed because of redistributing students, Mann continued. Teachers also had to be hired to teach pupil "bulges" in the three junior high schools and to lower the teacher-pupil ratio in high school English classes, in response to public pressure for concentration on composition in high school English.

4 Resource People

The four additional resource people will teach French, physical education and do speech correction work.

Mann also predicted school enrollments would go up slightly within the next week. An abnormally early school opening date has forced some children to enroll late, he said, because they have not returned from late summer vacations. School ordinarily opens the day after Labor day.

The kindergarten situation is acute, Mann said. There are 19 sections with 26 to 30 pupils and 11 with 31 to 35 pupils, he reported.

No Classification

The state has delayed classifying Appleton as either a basic or integrated district until the city adjusts the situation. A basic district does not receive state aid on the same base as an integrated district. The differences are determined on many things — including teacher-pupil ratios for kindergarten, primary, intermediate and high school levels, Mann explained.

The primary and intermediate ratios hover around the 25 mark, he reported. Three primary and three intermediate sections have more than 30 pupils.

2 New Schools

St. Pius X counted 425 students the first day; Xavier, 454. There were 259 freshmen and 185 sophomores at Xavier — somewhat more than the number predicted earlier this year.

The increased enrollment at Xavier cut Appleton High school enrollment to 1,687, or 134 less than last year. The high school figure is expected to rise as more pupils return next week.

The St. Pius X figure includes about 222 students who attended St. Therese Catholic school last year, Sister M. Humulus, St. Therese principal, said.

The new Daniel Huntley grade school registered 516 students the first day, and the addition at Richmond school meant an increase of 99 students there.

Franklin school had 238 fewer pupils than last year and Jefferson, 145 less. Other schools recorded nominal losses, except McKinley, which gained seven, and Morgan, which gained five.

East District Scout Leader, Family at New Mexico Camp Site

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Vogt and their son, John, 224 S. Christine street, visited the Philmont scout ranch, Cimarron, N. M., where Vogt attended a conference on commissioner training at the Boy Scout volunteer training center.

Vogt serves the Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, as East district commissioner.

Green Bay May Annex 480 Acres

Considers Hobart School District On Southwest Side

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — A petition asking the annexation of about 480 acres in the town of Hobart was filed today with City Clerk Clifford Centen for presentation to the Sept. 15 city council session.

In a related action, the annexation commission Thursday voted accepting all of Hobart school district 3, of which the 480 acres is part, if petitions are presented. If the school district enters the city, about 1,700 more acres in addition to the 480 acres would be involved.

The 480 acres adjoins the 593-acre tract annexed to the city's southwest side from the town of Hobart last fall. The new area seeking annexation is west and north of the area annexed last fall and is between West Point road on the south, and the village of Howard boundary on the north.

Highway Bisection

Highway 54 runs through the middle of the tract. The consideration of the school district dates from the annexation of the 593 acres last fall. Since that time, some of the remaining residents of the district have asked Green Bay if all of the district can be annexed to the city.

If all the district becomes part of the city, the southwestern city limits would be relocated just west of the Oneida Golf and Riding club. The school district covers the area between the town of Ash-

Restaurateur Offers Women Diners Luxury

BY DOROTHY ROE

When a woman takes a holiday from her own kitchen to eat out, she wants the works in luxury and service, says William Pahlmann, a man who has made a thorough study of feminine psychology in his work as an interior designer.

"She wants exotic food perfectly served in an atmosphere of elegance," he says. "What's more, she deserves it. Few women have domestic servants any more, so they make up for it by seeking out the ultimate in service when they go out."

That's why Pahlmann has concentrated on creating a lush, rich and luxurious atmosphere in two of Manhattan's newest and most expensive restaurants — the Forum, with the decor of the 12 Caesars, and the Four Seasons, latest and most lavish addition to the cafe circuit. The latter, recently opened, features a marble swimming pool with bubbling chateaux-colored water in the middle of the main dining room.

Diners don't swim in it, but they may reserve poolside tables and imagine they are luxuriating at some gilded salon on the French Riviera as they nibble on truffles and pate de foie gras while attractive waiters hover near.

The decor, menus and waiters' uniforms are changed four times a year, with the change of the seasons. In summer the room riots with red geraniums. In fall there will be chrysanthemums, in winter poinsettias and holly, in spring tulips and daffodils.

Pahlmann at present is brooding on how to change the 20-foot tubbed trees around the pool in order to have flaming maples in fall, evergreens in winter and blossoming dogwood in spring.

Gerald Hoffman Heads Division In Fund Drive

Gerald Hoffman, president of the Hoffman Co., Inc., has been named chairman of the building trades division of the 1959 Community Fund campaign, Stuart H. Koch, announced today.

Hoffman, who has been active in this division of the campaign for several years, will direct solicitation of building and construction firms and their employees.

The 1959 campaign will attempt to raise $156,103 for eight Red Feather services and the United Community Services of Appleton — a goal 30 per cent higher than the amount raised in the drive last year.

Agency funds have been met out of reserve funds the last few years, but with reserve funds exhausted it will be necessary to make up allocations to agencies from funds raised in the coming campaign.

Car, Plane to Race in JCC Labor Day Air Show

A race between an automobile and an airplane will be one of the features of the Labor day celebration and air show at the Outagamie County airport Monday. It is sponsored by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The show, proceeds of which will be turned over to the Jaycee charities, begins at 2:30 p.m. Gates will open at 11 a.m.

No parking will be permitted on roads surrounding the airport.

The car and plane will start from a point on the airport runway and race to the end of the runway, turn and finish in front of the crowd. The plane will take to the air at the end of the runway, making its turn in the air. The car will have an advantage because the aircraft will have to go double the distance to circle above the ground. However at that point the plane can increase its speed in a dive.

Another feature of the air show will be display of a replica of the satellite Explorer II, which currently is circling the earth at 18,000 miles per hour.

Other performers will include Maj. Arthur J. Davis, East Lansing, Mich., a stunt pilot; Don Magnuson, Korean war paratrooper who will make a "sky dive" parachute jump; Howard Libersky, air stunt specialist; and Ray Henry, veteran stunt pilot.
